Minden may get a 'heritage park'

Minden's Museum Committee has unveiled ambitious plans to create a 'Heritage Park' at the present museum/gallery site along the Bobcaygeon Road.

At a meeting last Tuesday, museum committee spokesman Stan Hill outlined the concept to council, and asked for financial support from the municipality.

The first phase of the project, which the committee hopes can be undertaken this year, would see a two storey log house and a pioneer church moved to the museum site and set up on concrete pads. The 22' by 24' house has been offered to the committee free of charge, while negotiations are continuing for one of two churches the committee believes would be suitable for the heritage park.

Estimated cost of moving the log house and setting it up at the site is $10,000. The committee believes another $10,000 would be needed to restore it. Similar costs are anticipated for the church, for a total estimated project cost of $41,000.

The committee hopes phase one of the project can be financed by 50 percent grants from the provincial Ministry of Citizenship and Culture. It has asked council to contribute $10,000 toward the project this year, with the balance to be raised from current museum funds, as well as donations, including labour.

Presently the museum committee has three old mill stones which it hopes to set up as part of the heritage park proposal. The small building which housed the community's first bank in pioneer days already has been moved to the museum site.

The long term goal is to create a tourist attraction where the community's pioneer heritage can be seen and preserved. It could be an asset to school programs, and would also be a gathering place for heritage related community activities, the committee believes.

Phase two of the project would see construction of an environmentally controlled storage and restoration building at the site. The committee estimates the cost of this structure at $100,000, and wants council to spearhead the project, since the Agnes Jamieson Gallery would also be involved.

Hill described the committee's plans as "a long term project".

"We're just taking it one step at a time," he said in a telephone interview this week.

Council was receptive to the project, and referred the phase one proposal to its budget committee for consideration in the current estimates.

Sherborne council backs Dorset parents on school closure

Dorset area parents battling to keep the hamlet's public school open beyond the end of the current term have gained a little more ammunition. At a recent meeting, Sherborne et al council passed a resolution supporting the parents' committee in talks with the Haliburton County Board of Education.

Earlier, council agreed to allow a survey prepared by the committee to be mailed with interim tax bills. The Dorset school has been designated by the board as a 'candidate for closure' for several years. However parents have so far managed to convince trustees that the school should remain open, despite its small enrolment.

Time may be running out, however. Recent expansion at Irwin Memorial School in Dwight has ended overcrowding at the facility, and the Muskoka board has indicated it can accommodate the Dorset youngsters, who would be bussed

Church gets help with labour cost of renovations

St. George's Anglican Church in Haliburton will get some help from the taxpayers in carrying out renovations and expansion this year. Federal officials have approved a grant of $135,638 to the church under a job creation program.

The project, which has been in the planning and fund raising stages for more than a year, will include construction of an addition to provide a larger sanctuary, more seating space, office space, a large auditorium area and kitchen, washrooms, storage space and an entrance to accommodate wheelchairs and funerals.

The old church also will be renovated, with planned work to include insulating and refinishing the existing structure, re-roofing,

No objections lodged to apartment zoning

One more small hurdle in the path of a new senior citizens housing complex in Haliburton was surmounted on Monday when no objections were received to the first reading of a zone changing by-law.

Dysart planning supervisor Jodie Ainsworth said Monday that no one lodged an objection after notice of the by-law's first reading was circulated to adjacent property owners.

Council was expected to give second and third reading to the by-law on Tuesday, creating a special residential zone for the 33 unit complex.

Once the by-law is passed, adjacent property owners can still object during a 35 day period. That would force an Ontario Municipal Board hearing and could delay the start of construction. The concerns of nearby residents appear to have been allayed, however.

Construction of the new complex, on vacant land between Victoria and Park Streets behind Head Lake Park, is expected to begin later this year.

Red Cross is there to help:

From water safety to aiding elderly, motto is service

By MARTHA PERKINS

There are very few people who aren't aware of the invaluable role the Red Cross has played both in Haliburton and around the world. Whether soldiers fighting in the war found the medical attention they needed at a Red Cross outpost, or a mother gave birth to a child in the Red Cross hospital, this organization is known and appreciated for providing help when and where help is most needed.

But because they are in the business of taking care of those in need, and not of making profit, the Red Cross depends on the benevolence of others to fund its operations. In Haliburton County, March has been officially declared Red Cross Month and people are being asked to remember what their lives would be like if it were not for the good works of the Red Cross.

On a local level, the arms of the Red Cross reach into many facets of the community. Children learn how to swim from trained Red Cross instructors and are able to work their way up through the various levels until they too are one day able to teach swimming.

Senior citizens who may have problems managing their homes after an illness or just because they are getting older, welcome the help of the Red Cross Homemakers who can do virtually anything except the windows. These women, and some men, are trained in basic bedside care and sometimes can make the difference between someone being able to stay in their homes and moving to a retirement home.

In the summer, the county's population swells to 50,000 people but along with the tourist dollars comes more accidents. After being rushed to the hospital, a handy supply of blood is needed to see the injured person back on the road to recovery. Were it not for the numerous blood donor clinics held throughout the province by the Red Cross, many doctors would have a

Injured deer finds home with Gooderham family

By MARTHA PERKINS
Staff Reporter

It will come as no surprise to the people of Gooderham, that once again Bradley MacDuff has a wild animal living in his basement. In past years, there have been owls, wolves and raccoons as part of the MacDuff menagerie, and this week there is a white-tailed deer to add to the list.

Last Sunday, MacDuff was in the gas station in Gooderham with his 13-year-old son Kirk and Kirk's friend, Mike Mintz, 14, when a woman arrived saying that had hit a deer further up on Highway 503. She didn't know if it was still alive or not so away the MacDuffs went to see what had happened.

A warm blanket and a head of lettuce put doe on road to recovery

When they found the doe, she was lying in a pool of water, one eye pushed up into her skull, and she was breathing heavily. The two boys shackled the legs together and with a lot of kicking on the deer's part, they finally managed to load her into the back of the truck.

With a bag placed over the deer's eyes to calm her, they took her from the back of the truck to the basement and wrapped her in an electric blanket. She has been peacefully recuperating in the MacDuffs' basement ever since.

One thing that has amazed everyone in the neighbourhood is the fact that the deer started feeling better after it was given a Tylenol tablet. A phone call to a local veterinarian told them that the deer was probably suffering from a concussion since its nose was hot and it had trouble breathing. And since aspirin works well on humans, the MacDuffs decided to give it a try on the deer.

People were amazed when it did the trick and the doe started breathing easier and its nose cooled down.

The responsibility of taking care of the doe, which MacDuff believes is pregnant, has been left up to the two boys who are enjoying the fact that the family "pet" is about three feet high and stands on four wobbly legs. They have discovered that apples are a big favourite as well as tree branches and lettuce. Since there is no such thing as "deer litter", the two are also kept busy cleaning up the natural by-products of all that good food.

The doe has been named Bambi and has quickly become a hit in the village, with many people dropping by the MacDuffs' to pet her and offer

Not everyone has the chance to have a deer in their basement and Mike Mintz and Kirk MacDuff are taking full advantage of having this strange house guest. The doe was struck by a car last week and has been recuperating peacefully in the MacDuffs' basement.

Police News

General Occurrences

During the period of March 10 to 16, personnel at Minden Detachment investigated the following occurrences: eight motor vehicle accidents in which two persons were injured, and 42 general occurrences, including two thefts and two break and enters.

Accidents

On Saturday, March 15 at 2:55 p.m. Graeme MacKenzie, age 28, of Agincourt, was travelling south on Boshkung Lake in Stanhope Twp. on his 1986 Yamaha snowmobile. He failed to see a rock pile and was thrown over the top of his machine when it ran into the rocks. He was taken by ambulance to Minden Hospital with shoulder injuries. The machine received only minor damage. This was the 16th reported snow vehicle accident of 1986. Two have resulted in death.

Another snowmobile accident occurred at 11:05 a.m. on Bingham Rd. in Anson Twp. near Minden. Robert Ackerblade, age 35, of Minden, was driving northbound in his 1975 GMC pickup truck when a snowmobile came over a snowbank at the edge of the road. The two vehicles collided and the snowmobile driver, Dwayne Cooper, age 15, of Anson Twp., fell onto the road, receiving minor injuries. Total damage was $350.

Ice Conditions

Most area lakes have become heavily slushed up and the Minden O.P.P. Snowmobile Patrol has discontinued lake travel.

Sherborne briefs...

Sherborne et al council considered the following matters at a meeting February 24:

The first item to be reviewed was an application to MNR by Hollow Valley Lodge and Tavern for a proposed channel, boat basin and boat construction. Dave McDonald was called into council at which time members requested an update on data collected regarding this subject. Kel Stone was expected at council to give his comments.

Building inspector Dave McDonald said no building permits were issued for the month of January, 1986 similar to January of 1985 and 1984. McDonald said he felt 1986 would be a "relatively outstanding" year for development based on comparison from past year with the current pending building applications on file.

In preparation of applying for a student planner for 18 weeks during May to September, 1986 council was in receipt of a quote for room and board.

McDonald reviewed with council Ben Minns' application for rezoning of lands currently undergoing severance, from Commercial to Hamlet Residential. It was decided that the application would be deferred until Minns amended it as to use.

By-law #929 for the purpose of rezoning a parcel of land within the Rural Residential Exception Three (RR-3) Zone owned by Mary Schell located on Part Lot 4, Concession 11, McClinck Township, was passed.

Janice Jones spoke in regard to works undertaken to date to establish the Dorset Children's Day Care and Learning Facility. In summarizing, Jones asked council to consider purchasing an item to be used at the facility to assist them in initial financial cost. Council requested a list of items required, with a cost estimate.

Valerie McEachern spoke to council about the efforts being made by the Dorset Community Committee investigating the Dorset Elementary School.

Dysart et al council minute briefs...

Dysart council considered the following matters at its March meeting:

Council have reviewed the lands adjacent to Dovers Spring in an effort to arrange adequate safe parking for the users of the spring off the Main Road, and authorized the Reeve and Clerk to proceed with the purchase of Part 2, from Jack Austin, for $2,000.

Permission was granted the Harcourt Recreation and Community Centre Board to hold a Bavarian Garden and Dance at their annual summer fair, Saturday, July 12, 1986.

Council strongly protested the recent decision by the Solicitor General's Department to reduce funding to the Ontario Provincial Police which will cause less law enforcement than is desirable. Council contends that to eliminate overtime and any service would seriously jeopardize law enforcement in this municipality.

The Canadian Legion - Branch 129 was advised that the municipality will cooperate with them on their Bluegrass Festival in the provision of land and other assistance.

CN Real Estate was advised that the Municipality of Dysart is interested in acquiring all of their lands within the boundaries of the township and the reeve and clerk were authorized to negotiate the purchase with representatives from CN at the earliest possible date.

Dorothy Baker and Bill Davis will be a committee to meet with Peter Collins from time to time and report to council the feasibility of a miniature steam railway for the area.

The Haliburton Kawartha Great Pine Ridge Health Unit, the Property Standards Committee and the Building Inspector were requested to examine the premises known locally as "Video Attack" and provide council with a report of their findings as to health and sanitation, building standards for maintenance and occupancy and structural soundness. The clerk will withhold the 1986 licence until these reports are received and have been reviewed by council.

The offer of Bill Picard and Brian Holden for Part 3, Plan 19R2953, in the amount of $4,500 was accepted.

The West Guilford and Harcourt capital conservation programs approved by and funded in part by the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation will be proceeded with for completion at the earliest possible date.

Due to the concerns expressed by the residents of Bayshore Acres Road of the decision to relocate the stop sign on Bayshore Acres Road and the museum extension, council have reconsidered and now propose to install stop signs on both side of the intersection.

Lot 30, P19R1393, Dysart, will be conveyed to Rod Thurston and John Beachli, for the sum of $4,000.

An application for closure and purchase of the shoreline road allowance in front of Lot 15, Plan 499, Township of Harcourt (Benoir Lake) by Ross and Shirley Cleland was approved.

The Chief Building Official was authorized to issue a building permit to Starasco Enterprises Limited, Part Lot 15, Concession 8, Dysart Township (Part 1, Plan 19R-2744) for the erection of an addition.

By-law 86-6 (Legion Apartments), a by-law to amend Zoning By-law 77-32; and By-law 86-7, a by-law to authorize the sale of certain lands within the Corporation of the United Townships of Dysart et al, were passed.

An application for closure and purchase of the shoreline road allowance in front of Plan 575, Lot 3, Township of Harburn (Haliburton Lake) was approved.

The municipality will pay half the renewal membership fees on behalf of those employees who have successfully completed the AMCT course.

John Wilson was retained to prepare construction drawings for tender purposes for the proposed Library addition and tenders will be called for spring construction.

Stanhope council briefs...

At a meeting March 5, Stanhope council considered the following matters:

Council strongly supported a request by the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden to the Ministry of Health for an increase in funding to the Minden Ambulance Service to permit the hiring of two additional full-time staff members.

The clerk will advise the Minden Recreation Committee that council can appreciate and sympathize with their ever-increasing operating and maintenance costs on the Minden Arena and Community Centre and also the need to establish a capital fund for future improvements on this structure.

However, council feels its first obligation is to financially serve municipally owned recreational facilities and services in this township and therefore unfortunately, favourable consideration cannot be given in 1986 to the request for a financial contribution to the Minden Arena Building Fund or a specific capital improvement project.

Council appointed Darlene Johnson, Tony and Ruth Samarillo and Ross Vincent to the 1986 Fun Day Committee.

Council acknowledged receipt of the Recreation, Parks and Community Centre Committee meeting minutes dated February 18, 1986. Council will be reviewing their proposed budget in the near future.

Council adopted a rental policy of $400 per year, $250 for six months or $50 monthly for each hangar unit owned by the municipality at the Stanhope Airport. Lessees are required to sign a "hold harmless" liability agreement with the municipality for the term of any rental.

The Stanhope Airport Committee was authorized to hold an Airport Fly-in at the Haliburton Highlands Stanhope Airport on July 13, 1986 subject to all applicable regulations being adhered to.

Council authorized receipt of the Fire Chief's report dated February 28, 1986 and the clerk was authorized to issue a cheque for $200 to the Stanhope Firemen's Association meeting in Stanhope.

Council approved general accounts totalling $7,649.11, Road Voucher #2 for $11,942.19 and February 1986 Welfare totalling $6,587.67.

By-law 86-8 to stop up, close and convey parts of an original allowance for road;

by-law 86-9 to prohibit the discharge of guns, firearms, air guns and spring guns or any class thereof with a defined area of the municipality; By-law 86-10 to prohibit parking or the leaving of motor vehicles on a municipal road; and By-law 86-11 to prohibit trespassing for the purpose of hunting within a defined area of the municipality, were passed.

The next regular meeting of council will be held Wednesday, April 9, 1986 at 8:30 a.m. in the Municipal Council Chambers, North Shore Road.

Galway/Cavendish briefs...

At its March meeting, Galway/Cavendish council considered the following items of business:

The reeve and clerk were authorized to sign the amendment to the Pencil Lake Plan of Subdivision agreement, which removes Lot 7 from the 200 foot frontage category and places it in the 100 foot frontage category.

By-law 86-5, a by-law to regulate the use of land and the character location and use of buildings and structures in the United Townships of Galway and Cavendish, was passed.

By-law 86-6, a by-law to provide for the use by the public of lands of which the corporation is the owner and for the regulations of such use and the protection of such lands, was passed.

The Township mileage rate for 1986 was established as follows: 43 cents a mile, or 27 cents a kilometre.

Policy 86-1, a policy to reimburse council members for mileage incurred, was passed.

June Sully and Thomas Fluke were appointed as Fire Wardens and Fire Permit Issuers.

Council had no objection to a minor variance being made on Concession 2, part Lot 30, Cavendish and authorized Bill and Lynne Gregg to bring an application before the Committee of Adjustment.

Council also had no objection to a minor variance being made on Concession 8, part Lot 17, Cavendish.

The reeve and clerk were authorized to sign the agreement for a grant for three students from April 28/86 to September 5/86 in the amount of $9,376.98.

The Township fully supported Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships' request to the Minister of Health for increased funding to allow for the hiring of two additional full time the few miles to the larger school. As well, population growth anticipated by Dorset parents in earlier talks with the Haliburton County Board, has not occurred. The Dorset school currently has two teachers, and a pupil/teacher ratio of 8.6 to one, the lowest in the county system. The school also needs major repairs to its roof, and the board may decide it is better to close it than to pay the high operating costs.

Sherborne et al council will argue that the board should not only keep the school open but should give further consideration to adding more grades, offering Kindergarten to Grade 8.

The board and Dorset parents will meet to discuss the school's future in the next few weeks, with April 9 as the tentative date.

Special seniors to be honoured

Seniors who have made outstanding contributions to their community since their retirement are going to be honoured by the province through Senior Achievement awards.

"It is important that we recognize and honour the many contributions which seniors continue to make to their communities and our society," said Ron Van Horne, the Minister for Senior Citizens Affairs, in a press release.

Members of the public or community organizations may nominate those seniors who they feel have achieved significant goals and "made an outstanding contribution to the citizens of the province during their retirement years."

A selection committee will choose up to 20 seniors to receive the award.

If anyone or group wishes to nominate a senior citizen for the award, they may do so by writing the Ontario Seniors Secretariat, 700 Bay Street, 3rd floor, Toronto, Ontario. M5G 1Z6 or by phoning 416-965-5106. Deadlines for applications is April 30, 1986.

Putting the new floor on the 4 C's (Community Christian Concern Centre) space in the Drag River Building was back-breaking work, as Rev. John Smith and volunteer John Rae found out. The two men were just a couple of the many volunteers hard at work preparing the space for the 4 C's, thrift store and Lily Ann. The doors will open at 10 a.m. on April 7.

The Red Cross is invaluable locally

difficult time treating the needs of their patients.

There is talk of having a blood donor clinic this summer, somewhere in Haliburton County. The first clinic held here was in 1943.

Sometimes blood is not the only thing a person needs after slipping on rocks or twisting an ankle playing tennis. At the local hospitals, the Red Cross operates the Sick Room Loan Equipment Cupboard, complete with everything a sick person may need from crutches to bed pans. The service is free but patients are asked for a down payment. There used to be a bed available but that became too hard to transport and clean so now the cupboard goods are limited to smaller items.

And of course there are the local hospitals themselves, which until recently were run by the Red Cross. Many people in smaller communities would otherwise have had to be taken out of the area to receive treatment were it not for these small but well-equipped outposts. The quality of care in these hospitals was always as high as it was in the larger centres, and while they could not perform some of the more intricate operations, their value in the community was always placed in the highest regard.

But the Red Cross is not just a local organization. When the tornado disaster hit Barrie, the Red Cross was there helping families who had their worlds destroyed by the winds. The Emergency Services branch of the Red Cross is ready to go anywhere to help families get in contact with each other in times of disaster. For the International Appeal, Ontarians donated $10,382,000, of which $7,300,000 went to Barrie and $1,284,000 went to help those in Ethiopia.

"Quite simply, the Red Cross is the biggest charitable organization in the world and any funds we collect and pass on for international and national disasters are transferred 100 per cent," says Ken Morley, past president of the Haliburton Red Cross and vice-president of the Ontario division.

The reason why there are so few administration costs is that the Red Cross is an organization of volunteers who diligently work throughout the year to help others.

In Canada, while there are 2,700 paid employees, there are more than four million volunteers, 20,000 of them in Ontario.

However people decide to help, either by volunteering their time, donating their blood, or donating their money, the Red Cross welcomes any help in seeing that those in need do not go without the help and care they deserve.

Anyone wishing to make a donation can do so by contacting Dorelle Baker at the Haliburton Post Office.

Hall's Lake citizens not happy with report

The Concerned Citizens of Hall's Lake are not satisfied with the results of a ministry survey done on lake trout and want further testing to be carried out before Stanhope council approves a 65-site tent and trailer camp on the lake.

"It is our position that a more detailed study is crucial and that a study group be formed to establish terms of reference," wrote a lawyer representing the citizens group that is against the building of the trailer park on their lake. "It is also our position that the costs of such a study be borne by the developer."

The citizens are concerned that the lake would not be able to tolerate the extra development and want council to disallow the developer's proposal. However, as yet, no detailed study has been done to indicate exactly how the park would affect the lake quality.

Council had written the Ministry of the Environment twice, asking its officials to complete the study since they would not be biased and lean towards one side of the issue. The ministry feels that this is not in its jurisdiction and suggested that the three parties hire an independent firm to do the tests. The results of a test done earlier on lake trout in the area was sent to council and it is these findings that the citizens' group finds inconclusive.

"Clearly the report of the Ministry of the Environment does not address the issue and it is necessary that further steps be taken in order that the issue be properly considered," wrote the lawyer.

Members of council agree that the test should be done before they give their go-ahead, but they feel it is not their responsibility to pay for it.

Education recommendation made

Province-wide bargaining on teacher salaries, regional sharing of commercial and industrial tax assessment and an education tax on personal income are among the recommendations of the Commission on the Financing of Elementary and Secondary Education, released recently by Education Minister Sean Conway.

The six member commission, headed by former president of York University, H. Ian Macdonald, makes 54 recommendations, affecting such education issues as governance, taxation and provincial funding. Key recommendations include:

- Amending the School Boards and Teachers Collective Negotiations Act (Bill 100) to provide for province-wide bargaining on teachers' salaries, benefits and number of days worked, with the right to strike and lock-out. All other contract items would be negotiated at the local level, with strike and lock-out rights replaced by binding final-offer-selection to end local disputes;
- Regional sharing of commercial and industrial assessment between school boards in a municipality. This would apply to assessment not designated specifically for public school or separate school purposes;
- The introduction of an education property tax credit program for residential and farm ratepayers, to be financed by an education tax on personal income;
- Increasing the province's contribution toward the cost of education until it reaches 60 per cent of the approved cost of elementary and secondary education;

- Consolidation of school boards in Windsor/Essex, London/Middlesex, Hamilton/Wentworth and Ottawa/Carleton, and review of the geographic jurisdictions of other school boards;
- Allowing the creation of integrated school boards at the local level, decided by local referendum;

Other recommendations propose an increase in per-pupil grant ceiling, an increase in capital funding and the appointment of a task force on the use of new information technologies in education.

enlarging the Sunday School rooms under the church, and upgrading the electrical service and heating system within the church.

An additional exit will also be constructed in the present Parish Hall, in accordance with fire regulations.

Rev. John Phillips said Tuesday that the work is expected to get underway in September, with completion scheduled for March, 1987. The church will act as its own contractor, employing a skilled supervisor and local tradesmen, as well as the government funded workers.

To date church members have raised more than $100,000 in cash and pledges for the project, and efforts continue to raise another $50,000 to meet the estimated costs.

Final plans are expected to be prepared in the next few weeks.

their advice on what should be done to hasten her recovery. Already there has been a marked improvement in her strength and her health is getting better every day.

One day, Beverley MacDuff opened the basement door to give the doe some fresh air. The animal stuck her nose out, sniffed around a bit, and apparently decided that life was far more comfortable in the MacDuffs' basement than it was in the wild woods of Gooderham.

"I just wonder if she knows we're trying to help her and is going along with it," says Bradley MacDuff of how uncanny it is that the doe is behaving so calmly. "It's not normal. She's so tame she's just like a cat."

The MacDuffs don't know how long Bambi will remain in their basement before she starts kicking up a fuss, but until she looks well enough to tackle the Gooderham spring, she is more than welcome to keep on sleeping on a rug in their basement.

As the cost of education continues to rise, so too does the decibel level of the voices raised in protest against the current system of financing a portion of it through property taxes. In cottage country, the arguments for reform have been particularly forceful and compelling. Why should people who own recreational properties be forced to support the local education system when they make no direct use of it? The system is arbitrary and unfair, the argument goes, because it raises money from owners but not renters. The counter-argument takes a broader view of wealth and citizenship, acknowledging that governments always tax wealth, of which property is a tangible form, and recognizing that everyone benefits from a sound education system, even if they make no direct use of it. So far, reforms of the system have been slow in coming, but there are signs that may be about to change. Recently, education minister Sean Conway released the recommendations of the Commission on the Financing of Elementary and Secondary Education, and while they may never be acted upon, it is reasonable to assume that at least some of what the commission said will find its way into legislation.

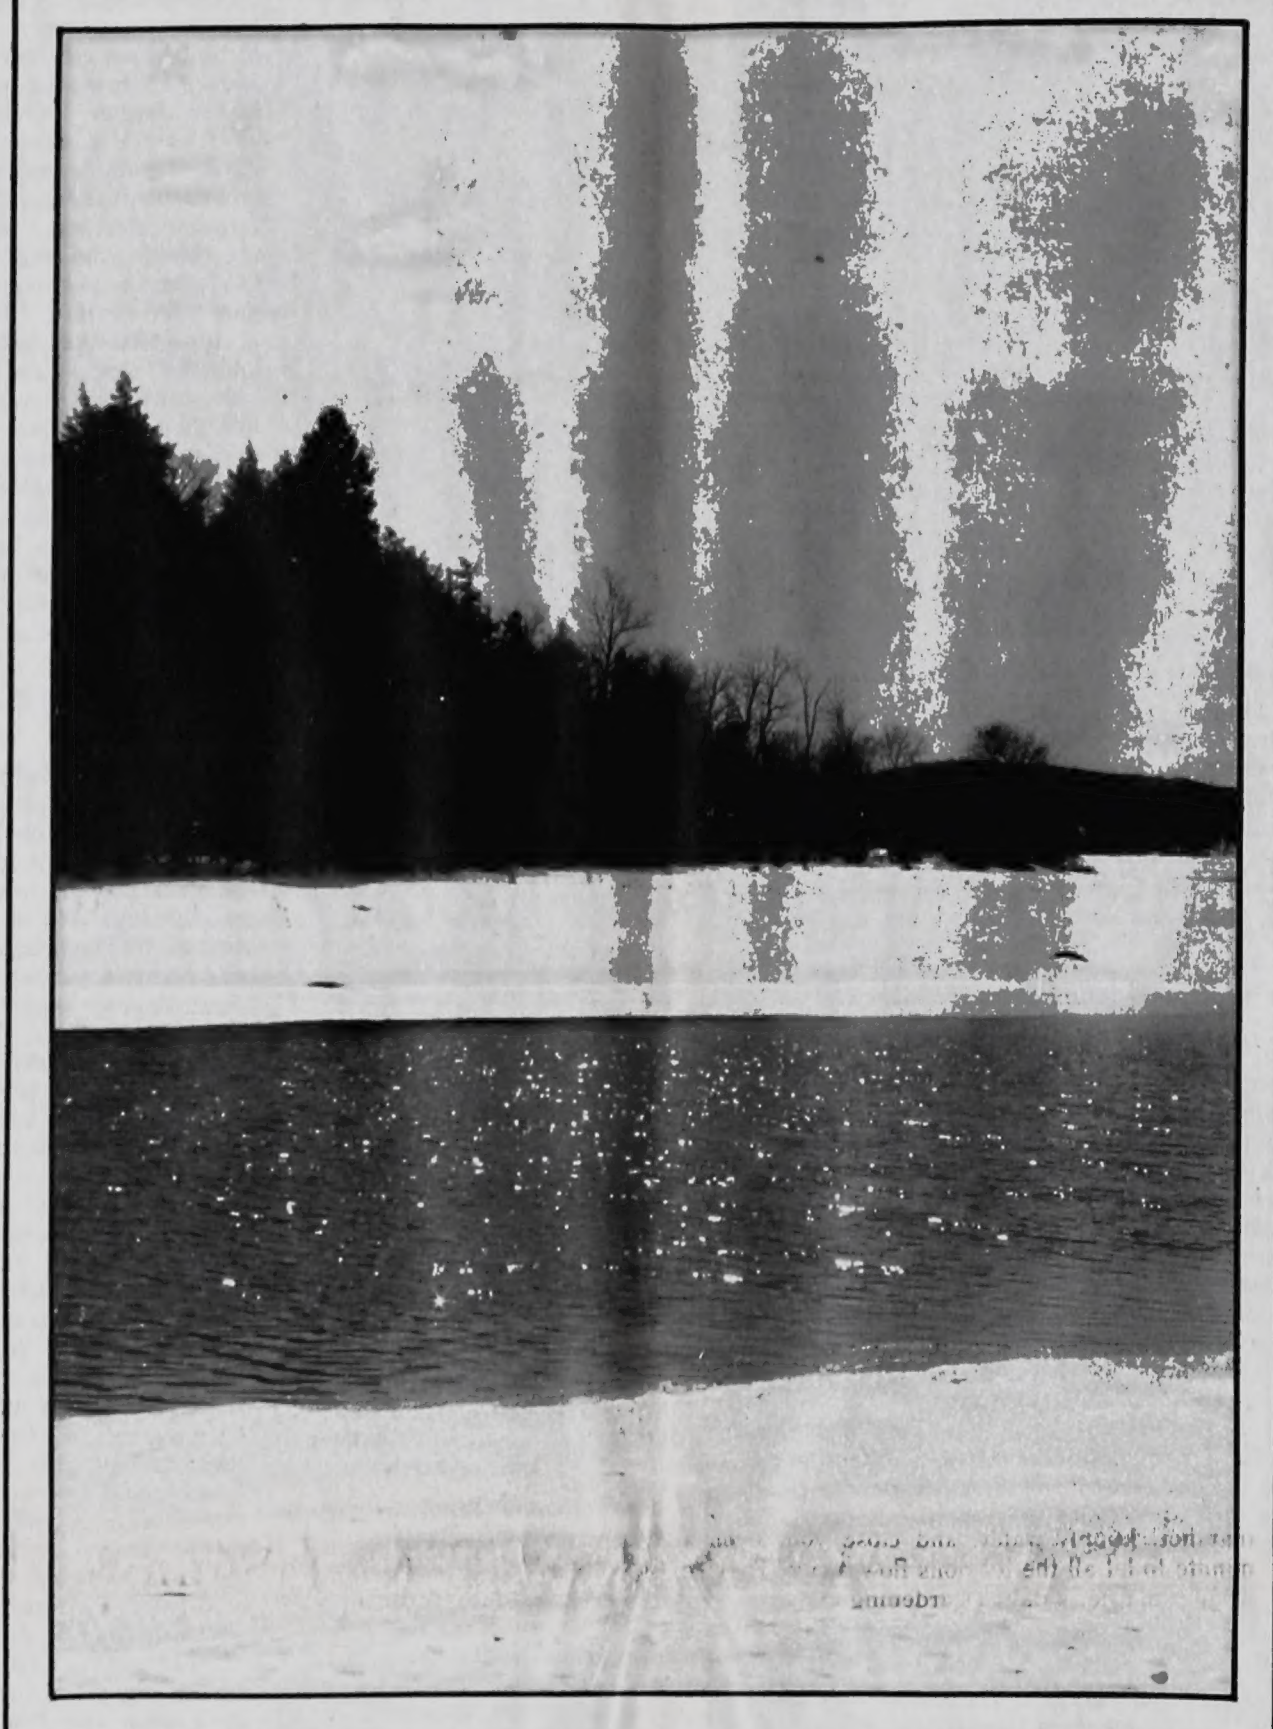

Two key recommendations focus on how money for education is raised, and how it is shared. Those who dislike education property taxes may be pleased with the proposal to implement a system of education property tax credits. While details of the concept were not spelled out in the education minister's press release, it was clear that these credits would be financed by an education tax on personal income. Presumably, this would spread education costs to every citizen, rather than weighting them to property owners. But governments have a way of making everything they touch more costly, complicated and cumbersome than it would be in the hands of more responsible managers. At least with the present system our property tax bills clearly spell out the dollar amount the local board requires to meet expenditures beyond grant ceilings. If that direct accountability is removed, will students and taxpayers be better off, or worse off?

The second recommendation on funding states that there should be regional sharing of commercial and industrial assessment among school boards in a municipality. As worded, this would not apply to the Haliburton County board, but if it were modified to enable wealth to be shared among counties in a particular region, the result might be somewhat lower education taxes on local properties.

The commission also advocates a change in the level of financing for school boards, and if this were implemented, Haliburton County would benefit directly. At the moment, less than 30 percent of the approved ordinary expenditures the board makes are financed by general provincial tax revenues. The rest comes from local property owners. In other areas, however, a much higher percentage of grant is provided. The commission says these discrepancies should be eliminated, and the province should increase its contribution until it reaches 60 percent of the approved cost of elementary and secondary education. If this move is made in conjunction with a general increase in income tax, it's hard to see how we'll be much better off.

The commission also has focussed on the current system of teacher/board negotiations, advocating a province-wide system of collective bargaining on salaries, benefits and the number of days worked. The risk here is that local accountability is removed.

The underlying impetus for the commission, and for proposed tax reforms, is the government's loudly protested decision to fund Catholic high schools fully. The cost of that folly is staggering, and the government may find a way to hide it behind a smokescreen of tax increases brought about by 'reforms'.

Law gives right to kill loose dogs

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

Further to your recent articles "Dysart to raise dog fines", and "MNR warns about letting dogs run", I would like to convey the following information to the citizens of Haliburton County:

Section 9, of the Dog Licensing and Live Stock and Poultry Protection Act, R.S.O. 1980 c. 123, provides as follows:

9. Any person may kill a dog: (a) that is found killing or injuring live stock or poultry; (b) that in a township or village is found between sunset and sunrise straying from the premises where the dog is habitually kept; (c) that is found straying at any time and not under proper control, upon premises where live stock or poultry are habitually kept.

In other words, a licence to kill is granted to

Unfair play

To The Editor:

Yes Mrs. Parnell, you may well have witnessed the most unsportsmanlike conduct that you have ever seen, however everything was not as it appeared to be.

Did our team cheer for Scarborough? Yes.

Did our team tease Wilberforce? Yes.

Was it over their concern for the big win? Not likely.

When the chairman of the tournament invited us to play he instructed us to bring only our regular players, not a stacked team. But when we arrived we found that Wilberforce had three players from another team and that he had changed the tournament rules that very morning to allow Wilberforce to stack their team.

How much fun is it for a team to go to a tournament in which the host has modified the rules to such an extent as to almost ensure the home team's victory?

We feel that Wilberforce deprived us and every team in attendance out of a fun and sportsmanlike tournament. What is more unsportsmanlike? Is it when a team in the stands shouts their approval or disapproval for a team on the ice or is it when a team manipulates the rules in an attempt to win the very tournament they host?

Sincerely,
The Coach and Players of Haliburton Bantams #1

anyone who finds a dog injuring live stock, or is in a village or township at night and is straying from the place where the dog is usually kept, or is not under proper control and is on lands where live stock is kept.

Under provisions of the Game and Fish Act of Ontario, the only person who can destroy a dog is an officer under the above Act (Conservation Officer) and only in certain circumstances.

The common law rule that dogs may be killed only in certain circumstances where a real or imminent danger is involved, has been altered by Section 9 of the Dog Licensing and Live Stock and Poultry Protection Act, and in particular subsection (b) and (c) thereof. The overriding principal when the applicable provincial statutes and municipal by-laws are examined, seems to be not only to protect live stock, but also personal property in general from dogs that are straying or "running at large" and not under control and disturbing citizens in any way possible. The Dog Licensing and Live Stock and Poultry Protection Act in particular deals with rural areas such as the townships in Haliburton County.

It may be a better idea in the evening to take your dog for a walk, using a leash as required by law, rather than let it roam the country side at all hours of the night, getting into who knows what.

It could mean the difference between having a pet or not.

Yours truly,
Robert S. English

Herbicides destroy

To The Editor:

Over the past few years in various areas of the Highlands on a summer's day drive one could suddenly round a bend of what the week before had been one of the county's beautiful, scenic, green winding roads only to be surrounded on each side by seared and scorched trees.

Miles of this blasted and depressing roadside often followed. It is just a heart break.

Ontario Hydro, among other utilities, and their herbicide spraying machines and equipment would have passed by as part of their scorched earth policy of brush control. One of the first things destroyed, however, is the scenic tourist attraction of our beautiful county.

We must not reproach the pleasant, conscientious and courteous men and women of our local

There seems to be a great many people who live in the big city wondering how on earth we manage to get the time in here in good old Haliburton County. Well let me tell you that it's not hard. We have plenty of activities here to keep one busy most of the time. We also have many modern sports facilities in the county and when it comes to winter sports we have a great deal to offer. Some people tell me that during the months they are so busy that they don't seem to have a minute to themselves.

The citizens of Haliburton and area were saddened and shocked last Friday when they heard the news that Wes Baker, a life long resident of Haliburton, had died. I think that all those who knew him would have to agree that they just didn't come any better than Wes Baker. He was a friend of everyone and no matter what he was doing he always took time to stop and chat for a while. Wes, who was a first World War veteran and a member of North Entrance Lodge at Haliburton, was interested in many things and when his health allowed he loved to go to the hunting camp in November each year and join the men for the two weeks of hunting season. Two of the main things dear to his heart were the church and sports, and in particular, the game of hockey. Wes was a member of the Haliburton United Church, which he attended faithfully with his wife Kitty right up to the time of his death. For years he was active in the church and on most Sundays you would find him doing his part and taking up the collection. For many years he was a staunch supporter of the Toronto Maple Leafs and would follow them on television on Saturday nights and then on the radio when they were on the road on Sunday nights. He also attended many of the hockey games at the Haliburton arena and was always on hand to cheer on the Huskies. Wes loved to walk and in the morning when he would come down to the Post Office to pick up his mail, he would meet his friends along the way, getting their opinion on the hockey game played the night before. When I think of Wes I will always remember the visits we would have following Sunday church service and the many hockey talks we had, both on the main street and in my office. Goodbye Wes, we are really going to miss you.

Did you know that the Monmouth Senior Citizens group meet every Tuesday with a lunch at 12:30 followed by a short business meeting and cards, bridge, cribbage and carpet bowling? Why not get away from it all for a while and come out and join in with the gang?

Three Haliburton County hockey clubs are still in the playoffs and hoping to bring home a championship. They are the Haliburton Pee Wees and Bantams and the Minden Juveniles. Let's get behind these teams and root them on to victory.

The March break is over for another year. This intermission during the year gives those who want to get away for a few days the opportunity to beat those winter blues. It would appear that more people than ever before took advantage of the holiday to get away. It was really quiet in the villages of Haliburton and Minden during the week. Many more people went away from the area on holidays than the number of visitors who came to the Highlands of Haliburton.

In my column last week I stated that Jim Johnston was selling tickets to the National Home Show which will be held at the Coliseum at the C.N.E. grounds in Toronto. I stand to be corrected. Jim tells me that he is giving passes which allow people to purchase admission tickets at half price ($2.75) to the Coliseum.

Last Tuesday Don Blakey, a representative of J.M. Schneider Inc. was in Haliburton to present a Certificate of Appreciation to Wayne W. Wood of Ashburnham Meat Market for the sales year October 25, 1984 to October 26, 1985. The certificate reads as follows: Presented to Wayne W. Wood, Ashburnham Meat Market, Haliburton Ontario, in recognition of the Independent Retailer in the Haliburton Highlands Region who has attained the most sales of J.M. Schneider products in 1985. Congratulations Woody.

The Sports Show which opened in Toronto on Friday and will carry on through to March 23, always draws a large crowd of people from Haliburton. It would appear from all reports that there will be more people than ever before going down to the big show. The local Chamber of Commerce and many of the local real estate firms will be represented with booths at the show.

Here are a few local items. Mr. and Mrs. Jim Henry of Orangeville were visitors here over the weekend...Mr. and Mrs. Don Popple of Haliburton were visitors to Toronto over the past weekend...Mr. Cliff Dawson and his daughter Cathy were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dawson at Cambridge, Ontario for a few days last week...A number of hockey fans from Haliburton and West Guilford were in Toronto on Monday night to see Bernie Nicholls and the Los Angeles Kings meet the Toronto Maple Leafs at Maple Leaf Gardens...Mr. and Mrs. Ken Langdon, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Bagg and Mr. and Mrs. Vince Connaughan have returned home following a vacation to Italy.

POINTS OF VIEW

Just think of all those re-runs...

The view from here

Harvey M. Clarke

As a Former City Person, I'll admit I used to wonder what my fulltime friends did to while away the winters up here. After a couple of winters, I have a better perspective.

There's a difference between weekends and winter vacations and being up here all the time. It's measured in the amount of snow you move, wood you haul, windshields you scrape, cars you push, frozen pipes you thaw...well, you get the idea.

Now, my city friends say "must be great up there watching TV on your satellite all winter," and I have to say that maybe if the price comes down, and I had a bit more viewing time, it might be worth doing. But I did get curious enough to look into them...

The boys at Radio Shack have an excellent guide. It's hard to believe, but there are over 270 pages of listings and information every month of the year. It lists about 100 channels on about 21 satellites, although some have duplicate programs.

Some are from Mexico, and presumably in Spanish, or dedicated to such esoteric delights as horse races from Yonkers, or all the action 'live' from the House of Commons.

I think the city folk, who after all are cabled in for just about everything, are jealous of the Home Box Office movies and blacked-out sports they think we're watching. I imagine a lot of people don't know that most of the movie channels are going to be scrambled beyond recognition.

The first thirty pages of the listings are just for movies, including the same ones they can watch on cable in the city anyhow, as far as I can figure.

But it does begin to show some of the charms of the system, as far as I'm concerned. Because the truly amazing thing about this 'future technology', with satellites sitting in orbit, having been shot into space by rockets or placed there by space shuttles, is from out of the past!

From Andy Hardy to Hitchcock, from King Kong to Thumbelina, from the Dorsey Brothers to the Glenn Miller story, they're all up there, every day, week in and week out. There's even one service called the Nostalgia Channel.

Having been kidded all my life for being able to remember the formats of radio shows like 'The Shadow', and the names of the people who lived in Allen's Alley, I discover I have the same nostalgia for early TV shows.

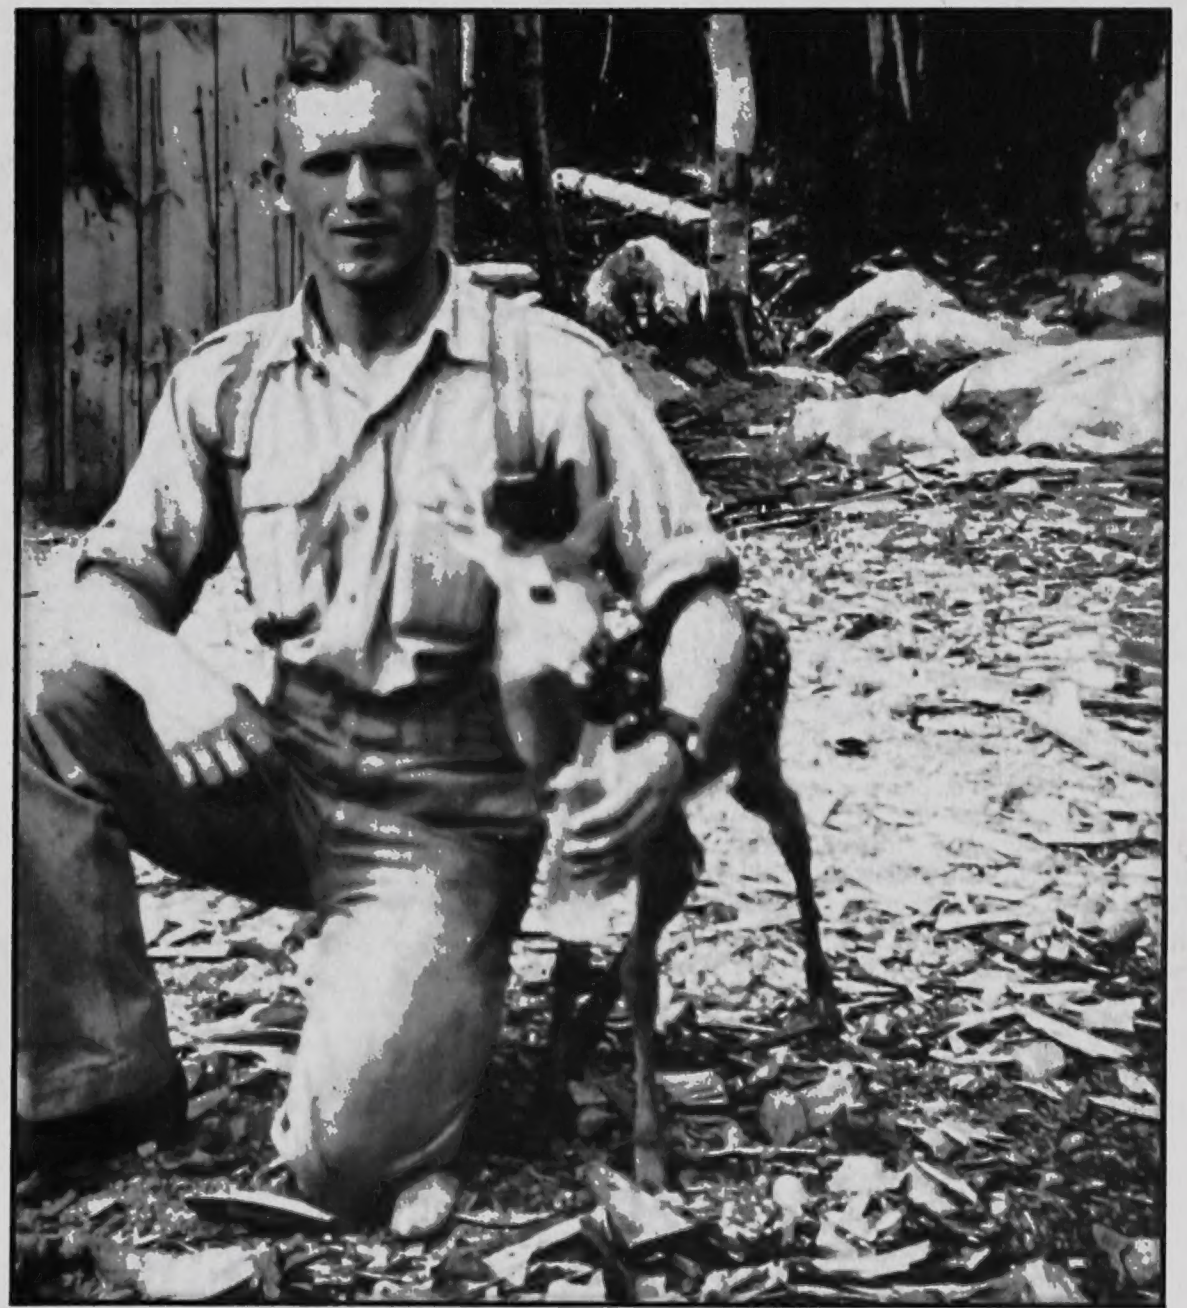

I don't know if I'd want to watch Wagon Train, or Perry Mason or even Dick Van Dyke every day, but it's nice to know it's up there. It would be fun to catch Ben Casey, Route 66, Dragnet, and even The Flying Nun, just to see how Sally Field got her start.

I know I'd love to see The Rifleman, Maverick, The Deputy, Gunsmoke -- and all the Westerns TV used to do so well. Or Peter Gunn, Mission Impossible, and Run For Your Life with David Janssen. We could peek in on the silly stuff, too, like McHale's Navy, Gilligan's Island, Dobie Gillis and The Munsters.

Not only that, but if we had a satellite, the grandchildren could watch Lassie, Bozo or Tom and Jerry -- instead of He Man and the other limited-animation commercial spacers the kids get nowadays. With any luck, I might be able to introduce them to the likes of Bullwinkle and Rocky, or Huckleberry Hound and his friends -- shows that were written on two levels so adults and kids could watch them and each find something to laugh at.

And Rick Nelson can still be the good kid with the soft singing voice on Ozzie and Harriet, Walter Brennan can cackle away as Grandpa McCoy, and Phil Silvers would be back conning his way through army life.

Let them scramble Rambo and Rocky and the Kung-foey violence, and all the teen screamers that pass for movies these days. Maybe someday I'll be able to get a dish and get to watch the good stuff!

Pic of the Past

This week's picture shows Murray Scott of West Guilford, Ontario when he was with the Canadian Forestry Corp., stationed in a camp between North Bay and Temagami at Olive Lake in 1945.

Murray raised the fawn shown in the picture with him and he called the fawn 'Red'. The fawn's mother was killed on Highway 11. Murray told us that each time Red had his bottle he never missed grabbing onto his ear. Murray also raised a cub bear and five skunks at the same time. Murray, who thought the world of that little deer, was a Quarter Master in camp and took a great interest in and spent a great deal of time with wildlife.

Confessions of a hot-tub addict

Northern Lights

Virginia Muenzel

I have a confession to make. I am a hot tub addict. It's true. I'm unashamedly hooked on them. Mind you, I had never been in one until a couple of years ago. In fact, when the California hot tub craze became known, I wondered what on earth anyone could find useful about standing in one of those round, steamy, wooden hot tubs until they turned into a lounge. Of course, nowadays, they have seats and lounges. You still turn into a prune, but you're more relaxed about it.

Anyway, the Californians don't know the best thing about hot tubbing, because they've never climbed into one in the middle of January when the temperature was minus 20 degrees Fahrenheit. It's purely amazing to be sitting in the thing with snow all around you and a few flakes landing on your nose. And even though your body is quite warm, the steam rising from the tub is turning to frost in your hair. Even more astonishing is the fact that you can get out of the tub and stand around in the cold for several minutes before you feel it, and still not get pneumonia.

They're so relaxing. You just so slowly slip into that hot, bubbly water, and close your eyes a minute to let all the tensions flow away. They're wonderful after a day of gardening or shovelling. But I have to give my word to the hosts that I'm showered first, as folks tend to resent flickens in their tubs.

Then, when everyone is unrelaxed, it's a good time to have deep conversations about the world situation, or the arts, or what are we going to build next. Of course, some people's tubs get a bit cluttered, what with those rubber duckies, and plastic boats and blocks. But, I'm flexible. If I get a free meal too, I don't even complain about the toys.

But now, we've reached the point where my mania is such that Ed has decided to give in and get one of the things. He's taking a big risk too. Aside from the fact that two cars and three major appliances will probably break down the week after we get it, and the cupboards won't have doors for another year. I'm liable to spend so much time in it that (heaven forbid) I'll shrink.

How often is there good news?

Question

by Catherine Denholm

Day after day we watch and read the news as one after another unfortunate incident unfolds - a train derailment, a war in the middle east or Central America or a hurricane. Lately, however, there have actually been a few good things happening which bode well for our future.

Marcos was forced to leave the Philippines. It is one of the few times ever that such a tyrant has been removed from office without numbers of people being killed. These people in the Philippines who have lived in abject poverty for years have some hope for a better life at last.

The people of Haiti have the same kind of hope with another tyrant, Duvalier, forced into exile.

Another happening which is encouraging for our own future is the second unsuccessful launching of a cruise missile over western Canada. The more trouble there is with these unarmed weapons the longer it will take to stockpile the lethal, nuclear variety.

I was pleased also to learn that the Minister of Tourism in Ottawa, Jack Murta, had removed part of the commercials which the government had prepared for over two million dollars to sell Canada to American tourists. The three sixty-second spots to be aired on TV in the U.S.A. later this month show Canada looking like New York city or Palm Beach, Florida. There was a

Learning to value fellow workers

Sunny Side Up

A person is only as good as the people she works with was the lesson I learned last week. And boy, did I learn it the hard way.

As some of you know, Len was one of those people who decided that winter did not hold the same charm it did three months ago and headed off for the comforting warmth of that Texas sunshine.

When he was gone, I decided I was going to be cool about the thought of laying out the paper without his help on Tuesday. Of course I was going to be super-organized and didn't see why we couldn't be done in time to be home for dinner.

The best laid plans of mice and reporters are often led astray and I have to admit we didn't see the page flats head off towards the Bracebridge skyline until 10:30 that night. I also have to say that if it wasn't for everyone else pitching in when they didn't have to, that paper would have been printed under a Bracebridge sunrise.

The first day of my problems was the machine we use to print the pictures that go onto the page flats. The little jagged things that were supposed to connect with each other to make the roller turn suddenly decided that the marriage was over and they wanted a life of their own. That was great for them and I'm all for individual freedom, but at 8 o'clock on a Sunday night their bid for individuality threw me into a panic. I can handle words, but machines are totally out of my journalistic realm.

A panicked phone call to Debbie, the typesetter who I relied on to solve all of my mechanical problems, quickly reassured me that nothing could be done until the light of day and I should just go home and go to bed.

So the first part of my great plan to have the pictures printed by Monday morning was already not working out.

Then on Monday I discovered that the story I was depending on to be the major story on page one was not really official yet and we wouldn't want to print something based on hearsay (by Tuesday morning I was willing to print something the tooth fairy would say).

Be cool, I kept telling myself. Some government official has just forgotten to tell everyone in Haliburton that the new apartments had been approved. Everything will be better by Tuesday.

Once Debbie miraculously got the wheels in the developing machine sorting out their differences, I could no longer ignore going into the darkroom and turning out all the lights. You see, if I ruined the picture, I could just do it again until I got it right. There is no such leeway when developing the negatives. It's an all or nothing proposition and I'm not a great one for handling stress.

I swear you could hear my heart beat as I stood there in the dark trying to roll the film onto the canisters. Are the negatives touching anywhere? Are the chemicals at the right temperature? Did I put the right liquid in at the right time? Was the lid on tightly enough?

By the time the negatives were supposed to be ready, I was too terrified to look. Haliburton might have seen its first pictureless Echo.

Miracles do happen however and my heart (which I had been writing about all day and felt I knew more about) finally got back to the steady thump thump to which I was accustomed.

Then poor Debbie had to listen to my anguished

Foster parents wanted: long hours, hard work, great rewards.

Being a foster parent is a tough job. It's full-time. Twenty-four hours a day. Often frustrating, and always demanding of your patience, energy and love. Yet despite its demands, or maybe because of them, thousands of people take foster children into their homes each year. Some are children, some are teenagers. Some have special physical or emotional needs. But all have one thing in common. They need a sense of place and security to help them through a difficult period in their lives, and to prepare them for reuniting with their families. There's a very basic joy in sharing with a child or young person some of the richness that life has given you. As part of a team of social workers and other professionals, you'll be helping foster children and their parents when they need help most. And helping yourself at the same time, to mature and grow as an individual. If you'd like to learn more about becoming a foster parent, contact your local Children's Aid Society or Family and Children's Services. It's not an easy task. Few jobs demand more of a person. But fewer still give more in return.

Motormen champs over Bishop, Wilson

Making it look easy, Curry Motors skated away with the playoff championship of the Haliburton men's league on Monday, downing Bishop and Wilson 6-3 in the third game of the best-of-five final.

Bishop and Wilson struggled vainly throughout the night to muster a consistent attack, but their biggest problem was Larry Hartin. The Curry Motors netminder was all but unbeatable, and his cat-like quickness kept the puck out on at least a dozen dangerous chances.

The motormen dominated play from the outset with crisp passing and a consistent defense that left Bishop and Wilson scrambling for the big plays that never came.

Walt McKechnie was a significant factor in the game, setting up his team mates and using his puck handling skills to take the play away from Bishop and Wilson.

A little over three minutes into the opening period, McKechnie fired a perfect pass from the left wing to Roy Scott, who slid it behind surveyor netminder Vince Duchene.

Nearing the seven minute mark, McKechnie deflected a shot past Duchene to make it 2-0 for the motormen.

Bishop and Wilson came close at the 12 minute mark with a good opportunity to convert a loose puck in the Curry Motors crease, but they were denied the goal. The surveyors continued to dig hard, taking the play to Hartin, who withstood the test time after time.

Late in the period Roger Bain rushed in to face Hartin one on one, but the shot was anticipated and the puck remained out of the mesh.

Three minutes into the second period, Frank Powers scored from close in to make it 3-0 for the motormen.

Bishop and Wilson picked up the pace, passing and rushing better than at any previous time in the game, but they could not get on the board. Two penalties left them shorthanded nearing the half way mark in the game, but they managed to nullify the threat with some impressive ragging and board shots.

Late in the second frame Curry Motors' Powers scored on a scramble in front of the surveyors net, and the game was all but out of reach.

In the final seconds, Bishop and Wilson had another good chance on a scramble close in, but Hartin came up with the puck.

The surveyors finally got on the board three and a half minutes into the third period when a loose puck was poked between Hartin's sprawled legs by Gary Burch.

Less than a minute later Al Oakley made it 5-1 for the motormen, and they added another just past the five minute mark, by Roy Hewitt, to lead by five.

At 6:40, Roger Bain streaked in alone and beat Hartin high on the glove side with a picture-perfect goal, but the motormen remained in control, even when a penalty left them a man short near the 10 minute mark.

The final goal was scored by Gary Burch of Bishop and Wilson with 4:27 left on the clock. Time ran out on the surveyors' hopes and the 1985-86 season, with the final score 6-3 for Curry Motors.

House league Bantams challenge Apsley team

Haliburton's house league Bantams travelled to Apsley on Monday night and came home with a 5-4 win in the third game of their playoff series.

The win left the series deadlocked after three games, with each team galling up a win and a tie.

Haliburton opened the scoring early in the first period when Monte Misco tallied, assisted by Brent Flood and Danny Connaughan.

In the final minute of the period, Haliburton moved in front 2-0 as Jason Stutt scored, with help from Wallace Wood and Jason Rowden.

Apsley came on strongly in the second period, netting three goals to move in front. With 5:52 left in the frame, however, Monte Misco tied the game up on a marker assisted by Rowden and Wood.

Late in the period Apsley once more took the lead, and they held it going into the third period.

Haliburton came out determined to win, and it was Jason Stutt who made the difference. He drove in two goals, the first assisted by Jeff Feero and the second unassisted, giving the local boys a hard-won 5-4 victory.

Bantams win first game of semi final

Haliburton's OMHA Bantams chalked up a convincing win in the first game of their all Ontario semi final against Ennismore on Sunday. The local boys were leading 10-2 when the penalty-marred contest was called with five minutes left to play in the third period.

Game two of the best of five series will be played tonight (Wednesday) in Haliburton at 8:30 p.m.

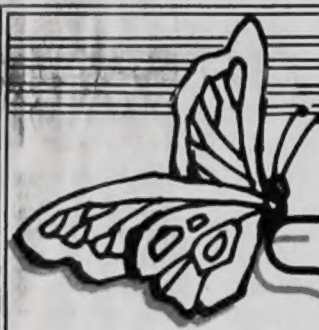

The third game will see Haliburton return to Ennismore on Thursday night. If a fourth and fifth game are necessary, they will be played this weekend, but times have not yet been decided.

PeeWees tested by Godfrey club

The Haliburton L.O.L. Pee Wee team have been beaten convincingly by a very good hockey club from Godfrey in the first two games of a best of five final series.

Last Saturday night the boys were beaten by a 10-3 score. The game was close for the first period, with Godfrey leading 3-2 at the end of the frame. Haliburton goals were scored by Jason Morissette from Jason Billings and Brian Waller; and by Kyle Hewitt unassisted.

The second period was all Godfrey, as they scored six unanswered goals to make it 9-2.

Each team scored once in the third period, making the final score 10-3. John Vuksic scored the one lone goal for Haliburton, assisted by Kyle Hewitt and Jamie Paradie.

The next afternoon, Sunday, in Godfrey, the Godfrey boys turned it on a little more, skating to a 13-1 victory.

Mark Lloyd scored the lone goal for Haliburton, with Kyle Hewitt and Wade Wood drawing the assists.

The series continues Friday night in Godfrey and if a fourth game is necessary it will be played on Saturday, March 22 in Haliburton, at 7 p.m.

Haliburton's OMHA PeeWees are having a tough time making much headway in their playoff round against Godfrey. They trail by two games in the best of five series, and will travel to Godfrey this Friday for game three.

Haliburton Novices hosted Apsley on Saturday, March 15, for the last game of the round robin. Haliburton came away with a

Changes set for Muskies

Ontario's Ministry of Natural Resources is considering a number of changes in the management of muskellunge. The changes will include a reduction in the daily catch limit from two fish to one, with the possession limit of two fish remaining unchanged. Minimum size limits will go up to 40 inches (101.6 cm) in the Great Lakes and some Northwestern Ontario lakes, 37 inches (94.0 cm) in the Niagara River and 34 inches (86.4 cm) in other Ontario waters.

The changes are expected to take effect in 1987.

5-0 victory.

The first period was back and forth, with no one scoring.

In the second period Jamie McMahon scored three goals, coming away with a hat trick. The first goal was assisted by Tim Keefer, the third goal by Colin Morrison.

In the third period Colin Morrison led the scoring with a goal, assisted by Jessie Longworth and Tim Stouffer.

Scoring the fifth goal of the game was Tim Keefer, his first goal of the season.

Schnauzers top Bassetts as series nears an end

In Wednesday afternoon bowling action the Schnauzers took three games from the Bassetts, giving them a total of 33 points, a nine point lead with two weeks left in the third and final series. The St. Bernards took five points from the Terriers and place second with 24 points. The Beagles are third with 21, Poodles 17 and Bassetts 14. The Terriers are well in the lead for league championship High games for the day

Ontario Naturalists

By MIKE SINGLETON

Porcupines must, surely, measure among our most strangely adapted animals. Removed from their forest context, they immediately strike the viewer as hopeless - legs too short to cope with even shallow snow. An awkward, pigeon-toed shuffle that makes them easy-picking for predators. An appetite for roadside barriers, car parts, tires and buildings. Awkward feet with oversized nails. And great, curving teeth that grow inches per year.

Yet viewed in their forest habitat, porcupines really couldn't be much better adapted. The short legs, equipped with rough pads and long nails, are especially built to shinny up and down tree trunks, providing unerring grip, even on icy coatings. The strange, close-placed eyes enable porcupines to see exactly what they're gnawing. Razor-edged teeth grow to compensate wear as they munch through perhaps a ton-a-year of bark and buds. To process it all, porcupines have an extraordinary digestive tract, and the ability to render harmless turpentine and other irritants contained in the bark.

Indeed, porcupines are remarkably like beaver. Instead of felling the tree, however, they climb it to much off the bark in place. And, instead of spending their lives hidden beneath water and stick-built lodges, the porcupine can head far inland, carrying its defence system - nearly 30,000 quills - with it. Each quill is a modified hair - a hollow, air filled cylinder with a needle sharp point, and barbs which anchor. Although quills cannot be 'fired', they can be raised by special muscles, providing a formidable cloak. (The best way of removing a quill from a dog which has 'done battle', or rolled in a carcass, is to clip the quill, releasing its air pressure, and pull it quickly and firmly.)

Ethiopia still needs your help, Red Cross is told

By MARTHA PERKINS
Staff Reporter

The enormous relief effort that has been so successful in Africa will be in vain unless everyone keeps up their efforts to get the famine-stricken countries back on their feet again, the annual meeting of the Minden Red Cross branch was told Monday night.

"No one knows how much longer affluent countries will have to send food to those people who depend on us for their subsistence," said Sharon Jackson, who works in the public relations department of the Red Cross and spent three months living in Ethiopia as an information delegate for this international relief organization. "The most important weapon have against famine is food and because of people like you we were able to win a few rounds in the war against famine."

When the starvation and suffering that were taking place in Ethiopia became known to the world at large, people began donating their time and money in an attempt to check the growing crisis.

The International Red Cross was there, distributing food, tending the ill, building wells and helping Ethiopians learn how to change their farming techniques so they could once more grow enough food to survive. Because it is a non-political and independent organization, the Red Cross was able to ensure that 100 per cent of their donations reached the people who needed the money, without interference from governments or bureaucracies.

While in Ethiopia, Jackson saw Canadian wheat being loaded into Russian planes fueled with American gas. Political persuasions were forgotten under the common banner of the Red Cross and the organization was able to avoid much of the bickering between different organizations as everyone worked together to fight the famine.

At times her speech and slide show were emotional, as she showed pictures of young children who came into relief camps weighing only 32 percent of what they should, and then pictures of them as laughing and smiling children who looked as healthy as children in more fortunate parts of the world.

"These pictures feature hunger, pain, agony, helplessness and death," she said, punctuating each image of a starving child cradled in a mother's arms with a pause. "These are among the lucky people in Africa since Ethiopia is just the tip of the iceberg."

But however bad the conditions looked, Jackson reminded her audience that "there's a lot of joy there as well as a lot of suffering."

"Africa is only as far away as our own imaginations," she said, and if we keep the images of a struggling and hungry people in mind, much more can still be done to help.

As well as money for immediate relief, Ethiopians need to learn how to modify their agricultural habits since the land has changed dramatically in the past decades. What was once a rich and fertile paradise, has now become a wasteland of drifting sand and no vegetation. The water is there under the soil, but without the trees to draw it to the surface it is unattainable. New trees must be planted and protected.

She showed pictures of water supply depots the Red Cross had helped build, adding that along with the water came educational talks on the relationship between keeping clean and keeping healthy. Many nomads and villagers did not know it was bad to wash and bathe in the same place where they got their drinking supply.

Rehabilitation is the main concern after feeding the people, she said, and it is because the rehabilitation will also cost money that the people of Ethiopia cannot be forgotten.

In answering a question about whether there was any interference from the Marxist government, Jackson said that she "encountered a great deal of co operation with government officials" who must have found it hard to ask other countries to help.

As for food and funds not reaching the people they were supposed to, she responded that while perhaps 10 percent of the food might not reach the people it was intended for, 100 percent of the donations were strictly accounted for and not channelled for other needs.

Ending her presentation, Jackson showed pictures she had just received of crops and vegetation growing in an area where there was

Bonnie View Inn receives loan for improvements

When Joyce and Ted Waffle first bought the Bonnie View Inn in 1985, they did so because they knew this old resort still had lots of potential. The realization of this potential is one step closer to reality now that they have received a $400,000 Tourism Redevelopment Incentive Program loan guarantee and interest subsidy.

Approved by the Eastern Ontario Development Corporation, the guaranteed loan will be used to build an eight-unit cabin at the spot where a smaller cabin had burned to the ground. The program is sponsored by the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation and the Ministry of Industry, Trade and Technology.

The Waffles, who have retired from the electric motor industry in Toronto, have already done a lot to upgrade the inn since they bought it, but would like to see its present 48-person capacity increased to 90 in the next two years.

Their image of the inn is quite different from the one they first had when they bought the property. The inn had been closed for three years and the inside of the main lodge was in a state of disrepair.

"I just looked at the rooms and the view and fell in love with it," says Mrs. Waffle, even though parts of the walls were falling down, the rain was leaking onto the floors and the windows were broken. However it looked though, "I could see the potential that was there."

After they bought it, they went about studying just what sort of resort was needed in the area and what would have to be done to bring it up to their standards.

"People are so busy in the city that they want to get away to that warm, friendly atmosphere of the country inn," says Mrs. Waffle of their decision to keep the country charm of the resort. While the peace and quiet will be their calling cards, modern amenities will be available.

The grant money will be used to build the new cabin, which will include sunken living rooms, jacuzzis and sliding doors overlooking the lake in every unit, upgrading two older cabins on the lake, building a tennis court and swimming pool and upgrading the grounds around the property.

Mrs. Waffle knew the grant money was available since she has worked in finance for years, and along with their application for subsidy, they included a plan of the new two-storey cabin and their five-year plan for the resort. They are very optimistic about the future of the area, as well as the lodge, and believe that Haliburton in the next 10 years will take off as Muskoka did 10 years ago.

Guest speaker Sharon Jackson talked about Ethiopia as Minden Red Cross past president Brian Adamson and new president Jim Burton look on.

The owners of the Bonnie View Inn, Joyce and Ted Waffle, have just received a $400,000 redevelopment guaranteed loan from the provincial government. Here the Waffles' daughter Colleen and her husband, Cam Johnson, stand where a new eight-unit cabin will be built with the money.

ATTENTION: CABLE TELEVISION SUBSCRIBERS

Dear Customer:

Last Fall the C.R.T.C. (Canadian Radio & Television Commission) granted Haliburton CATV permission to add four American TV networks I.E. ABC, NBC, CBS, PBS, plus CHCH Channel 11 from Hamilton, Ont. to its cable systems in Minden and Haliburton.

These extra five channels would be added on a discretionary basis, and only those desiring the service will receive it. The cable company will receive the service via satellite from Canadian Satellite Communications and distribute the signals on channels 2-3-4-5-6. The existing "off the air" service will continue in its present form and will appear on channels 7-8-9-10-11-12-13. As a result customers will not require a converter or any other equipment in their homes.

The cost of this additional service will be $10.00 per month plus Federal and Provincial Taxes. Because we must commit the company to a substantial capital cost, plus a monthly rental to Canadian Satellite Communications before this service can begin, we must have a minimum number of cable customers committed to the new service. We ask you to complete the following form and return it to us as soon as possible. If there are questions kindly call 754-2356 or 286-2846 between 6:00 and 8:00 p.m.

Hydro operation. They are just following orders and procedures. They may even share some of the following views. This activity has to be stopped at a higher management level.

Herbicides being used today are increasingly being questioned as hazardous to human life on surface contact or when they enter our lakes and rivers or the groundwater which supplies our wells. Over the long term we may not be talking "herbicide" but "suicide".

Jobs which could be created cutting brush by hand on Hydro rights-of-way are lost when spray replaces human hands. Many Haliburton youngsters would jump at the chance of a summer job.

Use of these sprays does not profit Canadians. It enriches the multinational companies based in foreign countries who manufacture the chemicals, employed. Their shipment, storage, handling and disposal locally endangers local health. It's a poor bargain: local jobs lost, endangered local health, destroyed local scenery.

John Howard Society

To The Editor:

I am writing in response to an article which ran in your paper February 19, 1986, entitled "More social help sought". I wish to clarify some information regarding the John Howard Society of Victoria/Haliburton.

Our branch has been in existence since January 1982. Initially we were only able to provide services to residents of Victoria County, but our aim has always been to provide services to Haliburton County as well. From January to July 1985, we had a part-time staff person located in an office in the Haliburton Outreach Centre. Unfortunately, our funding for this person was not continued, and we were forced to close the office. Services such as counselling, crisis intervention and community education have continued to be provided by our Lindsay office to residents of Haliburton County on a limited basis. It is our continued aim to re-establish the office in Haliburton, so that service will be directly available to the residents of Haliburton County. Efforts are currently underway to accomplish this goal.

Perhaps the confusion in the article centres around the fact that we are presently in the midst of establishing a group for men who abuse their wives in Lindsay. It is this agency's plan to also establish such a group in Haliburton, as soon as funds become available. We are optimistic that this will be accomplished this year.

The John Howard Society is in full agreement that Haliburton County requires (and has a right to) services being provided directly in the community. We have lobbied for this principle since our inception, and will continue to direct our efforts in that area.

Anyone wishing further information about our services, or requiring assistance, is encouraged to contact us by calling (705) 328-0472 or by writing to us at P.O. Box 7000, Lindsay, Ontario K9V 5E5.

Respectfully,
Dianne J. Ballam

I know John Eakins, our local provincial member and Minister of Tourism, will want to help stop the spraying. I urge to address him as I intend to do. I plan also to ask Hydro not to spray along my property or anywhere else.

I'd like to see a bumper sticker that said something like this: "Chuck away that spray. Give a kid a day's pay."

Forgiveness

To The Editor:

When I go to bed each night I say my bedtime prayers. I always say to God that if there is ever anything he wants me to do, he'd have to hit me with it like a ton of bricks or I'd never catch on. Well last week I got those bricks. I had been hearing a lot of talk about a person in the community molesting three children in his own home. I was scared for my own son, but before I went off the deep end, I phoned this man and asked him the truth. I found out that the three charges everyone was talking about were actually three offences to one child.

This man has been fighting a homosexual problem for 20 years and is now receiving professional help to correct the problem. I didn't realize what I was supposed to do until I was in the pharmacy and overheard two people talking about this man. Their talk was based on the wrong version of the story and they ended the conversation with talk of hate and wishes to kill this man.

What this man did was a horrible thing and I'll never condone it, but it is not up to us to punish this man. "Vengeance is mine, I will repay," sayeth the Lord (Romans 12, v. 19). "Who are you to pass judgement on the servant of another? It is before his own Master that he stands or falls" (Romans 13, v. 14).

If you ask this man about it, he will tell you the truth. He will also tell you that he has repented his sin, so we must forgive him. "If your brother sins, rebuke him, and if he repents, forgive him; and if he sins against you seven times in the day, and turns to you seven times and says 'I repent' you must forgive him" (Luke 17, v. 3 and 4). You see God forgives him and that's what counts. God is in control of this situation. He knows this man should be punished, and he will punish him because that's his job, not ours. Our job is to forgive this man. "For if you forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly father will also forgive you, but if you do not forgive men their trespasses, neither will your father forgive your trespasses." (Matthew 7, v. 14 and 15).

My whole message is that when we talk about killing, and speak with hate in our hearts, that is just as big a sin in God's eyes as what this man did. Where did talk of hate and killing ever get us? We are to love our brother as well as our enemies" (Matthew 6, v. 44). I think this is a pretty big test of faith that God has presented us with, and I don't know about anyone else, but I want an "A" on this one.

screams as I tried and tried again to get the right dot structure and grey tones (I won't explain that to you).

Then came the big day when the paper had to be "put to bed", as we say in the biz. Well, I am not the genius I thought I was and my fingers did not fly over the pages-half as quickly as I wanted them to. I was not even out in the back to start putting the words on the page flats until 3 o'clock.

During this time that I was working on my first, and hopefully last, ulcer, everyone was busy doing their own jobs and wondering when on earth I was going to be able to join them (I had stupidly told them what time I was hoping we'd be finished).

Seven hours and a few panic situations later, the light at the end of the tunnel was clearly in sight. From wondering how on earth we'd get enough news to fill the paper to wondering how on earth we were going to fit all our news in the paper, the final headline was written and Creighton was busy rolling the page flats. And instead of finding myself alone at this ungodly hour, I was so happy that Creighton, Debbie and Donna were there beside me, even though they all had better things to do than watch me sweat.

When all was said and done, I was really proud of what we had accomplished together and was hoping I never had to go through that again.

Hundreds attend party for Mary Windover's birthday

Like a little queen perched on her royal throne, Mary Windover welcomed the hundreds of well-wishers who attended her 90th birthday celebrations Saturday at the Minden Community Centre.

With bright eyes and a cheery smile, Mrs. Windover was overwhelmed by the number of people who came to the centre to wish her the best of health in years to come or just thank her for being such a community-minded person. The line up must have seemed endless at times as she sat there shaking everyone's hand and enjoying her moment in the limelight.

"She's one of the truly great ladies I've ever met," said the MPP for Victoria and Haliburton, John Eakins, adding that he has only three pictures in his office at Queen's Park -- one of the Queen, one of his granddaughter, and one of Mary Windover.

Eakins had met Mrs. Windover when he was up in Minden courting his wife-to-be, Iris. They stopped to talk with her and Eakins has been carrying on the tradition ever since, even though Mary's husband was a staunch Tory.

"I've never seen her different from the day I first met her," he said, adding that he has always admired her ability to be genuine. "She's a class all on her own."

The family members at the birthday party would also agree, and if Mrs. Windover ever had any faults, her children certainly don't know about them.

"At one time she was called the Dorcas of Minden," says her oldest daughter, Mildred King. Dorcas is a woman in the Bible known for her unselfish devotion to others. "She was the lady who went around doing good works."

It is fitting that Mrs. Windover was compared to someone in the Bible since she is a great church woman who has for years been involved in the Ladies Missionary Society (later called the United Church Women), the Women's Institute and her church.

"I believe in the church," she says. "God has been really good to me."

One thing she feels blessed with is her family which includes four daughters (Mrs. King, Leona Garden, Grace Earle and Jean Vasey) and three sons - Roy, Wilbur and W.C., who was killed in a plane crash when he was just 18. She also has 10 grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren, many of whom were helping to serve tea and cookies and greeting people at the door. Also attending the celebrations was Mrs. Windover's only living sister, May Hazelton.

Mrs. Windover was born into the Pogue family of five children who lived five miles south of Minden on Deep Bay Road in Lutterworth Township. Her father was a farmer but in 1914, Mrs. Windover moved to Lindsay with her new husband, Ernest Windover, who worked at the arsenal factory until 1919.

When his work in Lindsay was done, the couple moved with their family back to the Deep Bay Road, where they built the Deep Bay Road Lodge, a family business until it was destroyed by fire in 1941.

"I enjoyed every bit of it," Mrs. Windover remembers of those years working at the lodge. "I met so many of the nicest people in the world."

Meeting people is one of Mrs. Windover's favourite occupations and one she has never tired of. To her, it is one of the best things she did to keep healthy and happy, besides not drinking and smoking.

Over the years she has seen many changes but the one that hurts her most is "the way the young people forget about the church. I think the church is the biggest help."

Mrs. Windover now lives in Minden, where she and her husband built their house for the winter months when the lodge was not open. She is still very involved with the church, though not as much as before since she finds it too tiring.

Even though she may not be as visible in the community, Mrs. Windover certainly is not forgotten, as the large crowd which attended her birthday celebrations proved. People came from places such as Oshawa, Bradford and Lindsay to wish her the best and other local dignitaries who attended the festivities were the Minden council members, Warden Harry Davis and MP Bill Scott.

One of the hundreds of people wishing Mary Windover a happy 90th birthday on Saturday was local MPP John Eakins, who has known this community-minded woman for years.

Checklist is available for home owners

By SUZANNE HYOWAY

A house is the most expensive investment the average Canadian will ever make, and failure to recognize or correct maintenance problems can make it an even costlier possession.

The guide "Inspection Checklist for Maintenance and Repair" provides a series of checklists to identify symptoms, causes and cures for common problems found in a home, however, it does not act as a comprehensive inspection manual. It is a guide designed to assist homebuyers and homeowners in making quick, yet extensive examinations of their homes. It includes sections from inspections in the basement to the roof, as well as exterior walls, condensation, and termites and other pests.

Tobacco promotion is 'subsidizing a killer'

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

The headlines read "Canada's tobacco farmers, mostly in Ontario, have declining sales" and "30,000 Canadians per year are dying from tobacco smoke". The Minister of Agriculture, Hon. John Wise, is responsible for a proposed Tobacco Marketing Board to promote sale of domestic and export tobacco, and thus drain 100 millions of dollars from the Canadian economy, to subsidize this killer!

It would make sense to use some of these millions of dollars to assist farmers to switch to growing food, which is so badly needed everywhere. Of course the Government would lose yearly, 1.5 million dollars per farm, in tax revenue from tobacco.

According to an expert in agriculture, Norfolk County soil, where much of the tobacco is grown, will produce superb quality potatoes, as well as peanuts, soy beans, corn and many other grains and fruits, apples, peaches, cherries, pears, etc. Which is more important, human lives or dollars?

They're more than just an Ugly Rumour

Haliburton's hot new band is playing to sold-out crowds

By MARTHA PERKINS
Staff Reporter

There's been an ugly rumour going around the village of Haliburton that a group of friends have joined together and formed one of the most popular bands coming from this area. They're supposed to be young, talented and in the business just for the plain fun of it.

But contrary to what people may be saying, this group of six musicians and singers aren't really that ugly. And considering they've been playing to packed audiences for the past seven months, they aren't really just a rumour either. The Ugly Rumour band is fitting proof that good things can come from small communities.

Six months after they informally gathered to play at a party, this talented band was playing to sold-out crowds at the Beaconbrook Hotel and at community events. When they were scheduled to play at the Winter Carnival, the line-up outside the Legion started forming by 7 p.m. and by the time the dance started at nine, all the tickets were sold. Whatever their name implied, the rumour running through town was that this is a great band with which to dance away the evening.

All of the band's members have been recognized previously for talents other than musical ones. Brad and Nancy Sales own and operate Cordell Interiors, Eric Brohm is a building contractor, Dean Stokes and Steve Baxter are doctors and Walter Tose is a teacher. They didn't all know each other in July but by the end of that month they were combining new-found friendships with good old rock 'n roll.

Never did they imagine they would become as popular as they are today. For them, forming a band was a sheer pleasure in itself, giving them the opportunity to enjoy music with friends. Today, while it is still fun, their music is reaching far beyond those just casual get-togethers and hundreds of locals are able to share in their enjoyment.

Finding the time to practise is sometimes a very difficult feat to accomplish since members of The Ugly Rumour band already lead such hectic lives. Here Walter Tose and Nancy Sales hit the right vocal notes while Eric Brohm concentrates on his guitar. On keyboards is Steve Baxter, with Brad Sales on guitar and Dean Stokes playing drums.

Having fun is what the band is all about. Every member leads a very hectic life and playing together in a band is a welcome divergence from their careers. They each love music, whether playing it or singing it, and they never stray far from their goal of enjoying themselves as much as the audience enjoys listening.

"When we started off at the summer party, I never knew it would be like it is today," says Steve Baxter. A newcomer to the area, he first met the other band members at a party welcoming him and his wife to Haliburton. Casual conversation about musical interests and talents soon led to the suggestion that he join the others in setting up an informal band. Though trained for classical piano, Baxter had not played for 10 years and was quick to adapt his skills to the electric piano and synthesizer.

Fellow doctor Dean Stokes had been playing the drums since he was a teenager, including playing in a couple of bands. His passion was rock 'n roll, especially the music of the Beatles and the Rolling Stones.

These musical tastes were shared with his friend, Walter Tose, who had taught himself how to play the guitar more than a decade ago. His singing skills were honed by years in school and church choirs.

Another friend of Stokes and Tose's was Mike Dunn, who arranged for them to play at an end-of-summer party at Big Bob Lake along with two other friends. Dunn still occasionally plays with them but did not become a member of the band.

After that party, Stokes and Tose were joined by Stokes' friends, Nancy and Brad Sales. Brad had learned to play guitar when he was 15 and had played in a rock 'n roll band in high school. Nancy had also started singing in high school, and while she knows how to play the violin, her role in the band is as one of the lead vocalists.

The final link to the band was the Sales' friendship with Eric Brohm, who had been one of the guitarists in the Porcupine Lumber Company band. In the weeks that followed, Brohm had learned how to play the bass guitar and then the band's sound was complete, even though the equipment might have been a bit old. (Baxter describes the organ he first used in the band as being "moldy".)

Now the only thing missing to make the band complete was a name. Nothing seemed catchy enough until they read the flyer that was going out about a party where they were going to be playing. At the bottom of the page it introduced "the band", hastily informing everyone that it was "not just an ugly rumour".

And so The Ugly Rumour band was an official happening in Haliburton.

What really got the band's reputation on a roll was their performance at the benefit dance for the Curry family who had lost their home in a fire. It was the first time their music was heard by a cross-section of the community and they were a hit.

"We're something completely different for Haliburton - we're a viable alternative," says Tose. "The crowd likes us because the band is having fun too," adds Nancy Sales.

Most of their apprehension decreased as their popularity has increased. Judging by what people have told them, and the response from those on the dance floor, the band is quite confident they're not playing to a dissatisfied audience.

The most awkward part of the evening, says Tose, is when they first get up on stage, facing an

Women hold night of song Sherborne et al council briefs...

By MARIE WALLACE

When I began writing this column about news from the churches in Haliburton County back in January I was most impressed with the Christian 'oneness' which I noticed among the ministers who make up the Haliburton Ministerial Association and as well among Christians in the area. Now I am pleased to report on what is happening in Minden.

An ecumenical bible study group for women meets weekly, not only to study the bible but to sing and pray together. They are known as the "Faith Group", and they had an idea! They organized an evening of song and praise which took place last Saturday in St. Paul's Anglican Church where everyone was warmly welcomed by Fr. George Elliott who was delighted to be hosting this ecumenical event for Minden. After a very meaningful opening prayer by Diane Dron the large choir and congregation joyfully sang "This is the Day that the Lord has made, We will rejoice and be glad in it."

"God News", the theme, led us through the bible beginning with the Creation followed by Prophecy, Praise and Psalms - the Birth of our Lord - The Life and Teachings of Jesus Christ - Palm Sunday, Good Friday and Easter - Pentecost and finally Jesus' Return.

From the Minden United Church, five ladies sang, accompanied on the piano by Norma Barron, and readings were given by Ina Brintnell, Marjorie Johnson and three choral readers from the Gospel Church gave an account of the young couple chosen by God to bring His Son into the world and care for Him.

The Roman Catholic Church was represented by Toos Reid and Rose Barry playing their guitars and Larry Vanlieshout on the piano accordion, who provided beautiful accompaniment for several praise songs.

Melissa Stephens, organist and choir director for Carnarvon United and St. Paul's Anglican, led both choirs in very beautiful selections, accompanied on the electric keyboard.

Other readers were: Barbara Troceiwicz, Jock Mavor, Barbara Fawcett, Roy Barsley, Shirley Mitchell, Gaye Congeybeare, Les Eaton and Linda Elliott.

The closing hymn, accompanied by all instruments, "We are one in the Spirit, and they'll know we are Christians by our love", was thrilling and was followed by a prayer by Rev. Clyde Westhaver, minister of the United Churches. Those of us who attended were blessed by the music and expressions of praise given by the many Christians participating.

A love offering was taken and $175 will be given to World Vision.

Any women interested in becoming a part of the "Faith Group" are invited to call Barbara Troceiwicz, 489-2223, for details.

a candidate for closure. McEachern thanked council in allowing the survey to be inserted with the interim tax notices currently being mailed.

Council supported the Dorset Community Committee to petition the Haliburton Board of Education to keep the Dorset Elementary School open with a long term commitment and that further consideration be given to implement grades from Kindergarten to Grade 8.

By-law #935, setting remuneration to members of council for 1986, also was passed.

Rides available to show Guild News

Two years ago in Burlington at the annual Ontario Handweavers and Spinners conference, the guest speaker was Virginia West. She said, "Housework is like stringing beads without a knot at the end." This is how so many of us feel. However, if a person has an art or craft which they enjoy doing, they can really feel secure about themselves and never have time to be bored.

Attention Guild Members and friends: On March 27 there will be a car or cars leaving for the "one of a Kind Spring Show" in Toronto. If you are interested call the Gallery at 457-2330 before March 20.

Author Leo Dobrzensky will be present at the Gallery on Thursday, March 20 at 7:30 p.m. to discuss her recent book, "Fragments of a Dream", which deals with pioneering in Dysart Township and Haliburton village. Guild members are invited to a special Sunday afternoon viewing of "Family Portraits" and "Glass Works" at the Gallery on March 23 at 1:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

unknown crowd, except for the regular bunch of "groupies" (husbands and wivers of the band members).

"It just becomes so much easier after that first group of people get up to dance," he says. "If you're playing well and people are enjoying themselves, then the positive feedback is the best part."

The worst part of the evening for everyone is after the playing is done and all the equipment has to be lugged back into their cars to be taken home until the next month's performance. A few roadies would be appreciated, since now that they have become more professional, their equipment has changed to reflect their commitment to better music. The borrowed P.A. system they started out with has now been replaced by a new amplifier and Baxter is playing two souped-up synthesizers instead of his moldy old organ.

Luckily for them, the band was not started as a money-making venture for the cost of this high-tech equipment is quite astronomical. But if the band was going to live up to its growing reputation, they felt that better sound, equipment was needed.

To keep their costs and travelling time down to a minimum, the band has decided to keep its sights set within Haliburton County borders. Their free time is too limited and valuable to be spent travelling long distances.

Another thing they have decided is to restrict the number of performances to one a month. Much of the fun of playing together might be forgotten if the pressures of playing too often were to take control.

There's been good news

particularly objectionable scene showing a chorus line of gyrating nurses which has been deleted after demands from the nursing profession.

If you look and read carefully there are some good things happening at times here in Canada and around the world but not often.

"We're popular but we're also trying to avoid over-exposure," says Stokes. "We're trying to maintain our balance."

Maintaining that balance is often hard to do since they all lead such busy lives. The other doctors have been good about switching weekends at the hospital with Stokes and Baxter, they say, but one night they had to call it quits exactly at 1 a.m., since Stokes was now on call. Practising is also kept to once a week and the co-ordination of timetables has been worked to a fine science.

The main challenge right now is learning new material since many of the people they are playing to have already heard the songs at least once before. While the music from the 50's and 60's is still part of their repertoire, their list of songs has expanded to include hits being heard on the radio today such as "Walking on Sunshine" by Katrina and the Waves and the "Power of Love" by Hughie Lewis and the News. With 17 songs in one set, their number of songs has had to increase and they are constantly practising new material.

No matter what they play, however, the impetus for their music is just getting together to have some fun. The audience enjoys their music, dancers enjoy their music, and most importantly, even the members of The Ugly Rumour enjoy their music. Their's is a homegrown act that intends to stay homegrown.

Students fly to Paris on French trip

West Guilford

by Eleanor Cooper

Nicole Kanters and Darryl Goodall are two of the students from the French class at the high school on the exciting trip to Paris over the last couple of weeks.

Betsy and Peter Kanters were guests at the silver anniversary of Marge and Jim Howard on March 11. It was a surprise arranged by the Howard family for their parents. Congratulations, and continued good wishes to both of you.

It is with great sadness that I report the death of a beloved citizen of West Guilford, Bill Peck. He had attended the Wednesday evening chapel service with his wife, Gladys, as was their faithful custom, and he died suddenly in the night. He was a loving person and will be missed by the many residents here who have known and respected him for so long. Deep sympathy to his family, Harold, Dorothy and Ernest, and of course to Gladys.

Several of our residents are in hospital these days. Russell Bain, Frank Scarpnick, and Eloise Barnum. Wishes for sound recovery to all of them.

Alas for my writing skill, or lack of it. I thought I was saying that our Scottish Dancers were ever open to new members and it came out as even. The difference is rather dismaying since it was intended as a gesture of welcome to the group.

Keep in mind the Red Cross concert night, everyone, March 21 at 8 p.m. at the centre. Come and bring your donation and be entertained by a song and a dance or two.

CHACE Place is flourishing, thanks to the steady and imaginative organization. Those involved from West Guilford are Eric Lilius, Diane Hagerman, Anita Dillon and Pat Martin. A new CHACE centre is opening in Minden too. Phone 457-2989 for further information about this excellent family resource centre.

U.C.W. hear speech on the life of Job

Gooderham news

by Mary Hadley

Our postmistress, Mabel Hunter, visited her son, Don, and his family in Burlington. At Oakville, on her way home, she missed a step, causing her to fall and sprain her ankle. She is now able to resume her duties.

The U.C.W. met at my home last Tuesday afternoon with six ladies present. Jean Goff spoke on the life of Job. She had done much research and gave an excellent talk.

Winners at bridge last Tuesday night at the school were Mike Collins in first place with Ross Agnew coming second. Ross has been in the winner's circle for the last three weeks. I managed to take home 25 cents as consolation prize.

Visitors with Violet Billings during March break were her daughter and son-in-law, Ruth and Robert Madill of Clinton. With them were their two grandchildren, Andrea and Gordon.

Glamorgan Senior Citizens' Club met last Wednesday afternoon with seventeen people present. After Norma Fotheringham asked the blessing, all sat down to a noon lunch of sandwiches, cake, tomato juice, tea and coffee.

Ivan Hunter welcomed the guests and conducted a short business period.

Neila Lem entertained the group by playing the guitar and singing. This was enjoyed by all. Games and a social time followed.

Connie Gill, with her daughter, Tasha, spent a week with her sister, Cathy Marritt, and family, at Keswick. Cathy, with her three children, including her new baby son, Timothy, returned with her and spent a short time with her parents, Bea and Buck Hillis.

Scott Hunter spent the March holiday with his grandparents, Ivan and Ileen Hunter.

Leslie Billings and family visited with his mother, Grace Billings, and other relatives last week.

Among our new library books is a beautiful copy - "The World of Robert Bateman". This Canadian artist is renowned for his paintings of birds, mammals and other wildlife subjects. The book was presented to our library by Carole and Don Finn in memory of Theodore Roosevelt Peacock (naturalist). We appreciate this donation and thank the donors for their kind gesture.

Jason Billings plays hockey with the Haliburton L.O.L. Pee Wees. A week ago they eliminated Angus with a score of 7-1 and thus moved into the All Ontario semi-finals. In the game Jason made three goals and two assists. Congratulations!

Several residents are sick Children's work to be in time capsule

Coboconk news by Sheila Lake

There are so many folks on the sick list and in the hospital, I'll mention them first, so perhaps you can get a card off to these folks before you forget.

Jack Cooper, Mary Limrick and Joyce Paull are still in hospital in Lindsay. Bob Barbour is still convalescing in Ross Memorial; Bob Herbert underwent surgery on Thursday in Ross Memorial and Roy Newman was admitted on Thursday for surgery the first of the week. George Powell came home on Thursday and is resting up at home. It seems there has been more illness than there has been this winter. Let's hope warm weather brings better health to everyone.

Mrs. Ruby Powell, Diane and Kevin, spent the school break at Ottawa with her sister and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Rutter of Wilberforce visited his mother and brother, Mrs. Ruth Rutter and Garnet, one day last week.

Mrs. Roslyn Cameron of Richmond Hill spent last weekend with her grandmother, Mrs. Cora Lake.

Winners in the Seniors card games held in Coboconk Community Hall on Tuesday evening are as follows: Euchre - Leona Fountain, 75; Dorothy Brown, 73; most lone hands, Thelma Adams, 3; consolation, Jean Thompson, 46; Gents - Basil Walker, 74; Adrian Lee, 73; most lone hands, Adrian Lee, 4; consolation, Stan Stewart, 46. Bridge - Jack Barker, 3910; Percy Crapper, 3790; consolation, Alex Gagne, 1190.

Mrs. Holly Arntzen will entertain at the Burnt River -Somerville Centre on April 2. Ms. Arntzen is a national singer, and her concert features a wide range of music including folk, jazz, classical blues and rock. She hails from British Columbia and is touring Ontario this month and next. The Canada Council is sponsoring her tour. The Canada Council is a government agency which brings, among other things, professional entertainers to communities throughout the country. Hopefully, this concert will be successful and there will be more concerts which will give the community a taste of the performing arts. Tickets will sell at $6 for adults and $4 for students.

Congratulations to the public school students who took top prizes in public speaking at the hall last week. The Royal Canadian Legion sponsors this programme every year and winners from Coboconk Public School are as follows. In the senior category was Grade 8 student Jason Dove. Second place winner was Grade 7 student Michelle McDonald. Top honours in the junior category went to Kelly Richmond, Grade 6, and second place went to Carrie Liscombe. Roy Hopkins will celebrate his 80th birthday on March 23 from 2 to 4 p.m. His family invites you to open house at that time. Roy is a life long resident of Baddow, town on the outskirts of town, and still keeps very active. May you enjoy many more birthdays, Roy.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Fell, of Hawkestone, her daughters and their families, gathered at the home of her parents, in honour of her father, Sandord Richman, who celebrated his 89th birthday last week.

Mrs. Ruth Rutter celebrated her birthday last Sunday, March 9, and her family, grandchildren and great grandchildren all gathered to honour her.

Ben Farrow will celebrate his "over 80" birthday this week. His brother, Harvey also has a birthday this week, and Ben's daughter, Isobel Luff celebrates her "over 40".

Safety workshop is scheduled for April

Ag. Report

Victoria County Farm Safety Day

A farm safety workshop for farm women is scheduled to be held on Saturday, April 5, at Hub International Limited in Lindsay, starting at 10:00 a.m., and finishing at 3:00 p.m. Designed specifically for farm women, the workshop will cover pesticide safety, farm tractor safety and fire safety.

The workshop was organized due to the growing number of farm women actively involved in the hazardous farm operations at planting and harvest time. In many cases these jobs are assumed by farm women with little or no prior experience pertaining to the task. The result is that over the past few years, several farm women have been killed and several others injured in farm related accidents.

In the event of an accident occurring on the farm, it is most often the farm woman who is first on the scene. Knowing how to shut off equipment and having a knowledge of emergency first aid is vital in life-threatening situations. Ask yourself, "If your husband or another family member was caught in a power take off shaft, would you know what to do?" Attend this workshop and you will be better prepared to handle this emergency situation.

The workshop is a co-operative effort between the Victoria Farm Safety Association, Hub International Limited, and the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food. For further information, please contact Mrs. Jean Windrem, president of Victoria Farm Safety Association, at 705-799-6257, or Jim Coffey, Farm Safety Consultant for the Farm Safety Association, at 416-342-2035. There is no charge to attend this workshop. Please bring your own lunch. To register, call the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food Office in Lindsay by April 1, 1986, at 705-324-6125.

Canola and White Bean Update

Farmers interested in learning the latest information regarding growing canola and white bean crops are invited to an information meeting being held on Friday, March 21, at the Lindsay Agricultural Office.

The morning session starting at 10:00 a.m. will be devoted to canola production with Joan McKinley, soil and crop specialist from Walkerton as special speaker. A panel of local farmers will outline their experiences producing canola in the past year or two, and the new Ontario Canola Growers Association will explain their organization and goals.

The focus of the afternoon session will be on white beans, with Bob Forrest, from the Centralia College of Agricultural Technology, discussing the production and management of this crop. Again a panel of local farmers will outline their experiences.

This information day is being sponsored by the East Central Soil and Crop Improvement Association.

Wilberforce news by Winnie Schofield

In 1984 Ontario's Bicentennial year was celebrated with special events taking place in all parts of the province. Samples of crafts and records of activities that took place in that period have been requested from Toronto. A time capsule containing these articles is to be stored at Ontario Place to be opened one hundred years hence. During 1984 the pupils of the Wilberforce elementary school were introduced to this historical subject by instruction in the making and storing of apple butter and the making of bread in the old fashioned way. Their teacher, Mrs. Pat Clarke, with great enthusiasm, taught them quilt making. They learned about the lumbering industry with films and a trip to Martin's mill. Their experiences were recorded in the Haliburton County Echo and this item has been clipped and forwarded to Toronto as material for the time capsule. One hundred years from now people will discover how the children of Wilberforce celebrated the Ontario Bicentennial year.

This last weekend was a busy time. A fine roast beef dinner was served by the ladies of the Harcourt Community Centre. This event was well attended and the meal was delicious. A St. Patrick's dance sponsored by the Monmouth Recreation Committee drew a fair crowd to the Lloyd Watson Centre. There was a wedding in Highland Grove. Bill Donaldson and Marilyn Godfrey were married in the Highland Grove United Church on Saturday, March 15.

A new $5 stamp was issued by the Post Office this week. It is a beauty in design and colour. It portrays Precambrian mountains, lakes and rivers left by the last ice age in the La Mauricie National Park in Quebec. The park is home to more than 150 species of birds, fish and several mammals - especially beaver and otter.

This Saturday, March 22, brings a night of entertainment to the Wilberforce Arena when the Monmouth Figure Skating Club presents its Carnival night with "Show Biz". Hours of practice and time spent in of the big day a dance will be held in the Lloyd Watson Centre.

There were three hard fought and exciting games played by Wilberforce and Broadworth in the Tri-County Hockey League playoffs over the weekend. Results on Friday night were Wilberforce 2, Broadworth 0, and in Saturday night's game, Broadworth defeated Wilberforce 4-3. The deciding and important game held on Sunday saw Broadworth the winners with a 3-2 win over Wilberforce. It was a regrettable loss for the Wilberforce team that had done so well this far and had won first place in the overall season. Let us look forward to more super games next winter.

only sand last year. There is hope, she said, and forecasters believe that Ethiopia once more bloom with vegetation as long as the relief efforts are continued.

Jackson was heartily thanked by the Minden branch members who were obviously moved and gratified that their efforts to raise money in their area have proven so successful.

Other business at the meeting included the election of a new executive, which is as follows: president, Jim Burton; vice-president, Jim Grant; secretary, Jean Ballard; and treasurer, Syd Adamson. Past president is Brian Adamson.

Reports were heard from the various committees who have worked diligently throughout the year either raising money through craft bazaars, loaning sick room equipment from a cupboard at the hospital or providing a course to teach 13 girls and two boys how to babysit. With a budget of $2,000, Brian Adamson said it was amazing they were able to do so much throughout the year.

Presentations were made to the Red Cross Homemakers as follows: Diane Pratt, Betty Berry and Jean Thomas for five years of service; Judy Carpenter, Betty Lockwood and Beulah Stribling for two years of service.

Parenting discussions continue Tuesdays at centre

Kinmount Korner by Millie Moss

Michael McCluney, son of Barb and Reg of Kinmount, has been posted to Baden, West Germany, for three years. He is now with the Canadian Airborne Regiment Special Service Force in Petawawa and leaves for Germany March 16. Good luck Mike from all your family and friends.

Parenting discussions will be going on until April 8 each Tuesday morning from 9:30 to 11:30. Everyone is welcome at these sessions, there is no charge and babysitting is available. Just get your friends together and be at the Kinmount Community Centre.

The Kinmount Play-school will be having a pancake breakfast at the Kinmount Community Centre on Saturday, March 29 from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. Children $1 each and adults $2 each. There will also be a bake sale so come out and enjoy.

St. James A.C.W. in Kinmount held their annual St. Patrick's luncheon and bake sale on Saturday, March 15 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Parish Hall and I hope I'll have more to report on this next week. George and Aileen Brown, along with Nora Crego, visited with Mrs. Lyle and Helen Brown at Hyland Crest last week.

An open house in honour of Ann Rivers' 85th birthday will be held on Sunday, March 23 from 2 to 4 p.m. in St. Patrick's Hall in Kinmount. Everyone is welcome.

Ruby Holbrook recently underwent surgery and now is home with casts on both feet. Get well soon Ruby.

Pierce Whitney drove Margaret Kylie and Ruby Schell to Peterborough last Friday, where Ruby was to undergo X-rays.

Mike Cain had a nasty fall last weekend, and Ann Cain was yet another flu victim. I hope you're both better soon.

That goes for you too, "Grandma" Bacon. Spring is coming.

I am sorry so many people are ill these days. You are as familiar at Ross Memorial as you are at home. Presently Mary Limrick, Mrs. Hargreaves, Mamie Duffy, George Powell, Bob Malcolm and Jack Cooper, to name a few, are patients there. I hope sunnier times are ahead for all of you.

I was out of the house for the first time since February 17, on Monday, March 10 and that was for a visit to the doctor. We stopped in Norland on our way home for a visit with Helen and Alex Graham and my mother, who is still at the Graham house following her accident recently. She still is immobile.

Alex is not good and Helen is in perpetual motion. I hope also, to hear of better days for Bill Stata, Bob Watson, Mary Graham, Rosemary, Gordon Campbell, Alice Hyams, Marie Card, Shirley Stephenson and Wilf Belanger. A call or a card would help cheer these people up.

A very happy 46th wedding anniversary to Aileen and George Brown on March 27. May you have many more.

Helen and Alex Graham have their 40th anniversary on St. Patrick's Day, March 17.

A man was wandering around a jewellery shop, aimlessly picking up baubles and putting them down. The jeweller looked at him expensively, then finally asked, "May I help you find something suitable?" "I hope so," the man said. "What would you consider a good gift for the fifth day after my wedding anniversary?" Stay well and happy, read the Echo and call me at 488-2353.

IN MEMORIAM

HENDERSON - In loving memory of my mother, Edna May, who passed away April, 1939, and my father, John Ross, who passed away March 18, 1970. God gave us memories so we could have roses in winter. Always remembered by Denise and family. 32-P-19

SIMS - In loving memory of our dear father Bev, who passed away March 24, 1961. This month comes with sad regret, it brings a day we will never forget. Our love for you is still in our hearts. Just as you were. You will always be. Forever loved in our memories. Sadly missed, deeply loved by Helen and Ross. 32-P-19

SIMS, Bev - In loving memory of a dear husband, Bev, who passed away March 24, 1961. He had a nature you could not help loving. And a heart that was purer than gold. And to I who loved him and miss him. His memory will never grow old. Sadly missed by wife Toots. 32-P-19

SIMS, Bev - In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather who passed away March 24, 1961. Your presence is ever near us. Your love remains with us yet. You were the kind of a father. Your loved ones would never forget. Sadly missed by daughter Shirley, son-in-law Sandy and grandson Terry. 32-P-19

In memory of Gene Shawn Patrick Steele, age 19, who died in an accident March 25, 1985. We had him. He was his own person, everyone's friend, our own dear son, a special brother, a best uncle, and creating life, wherever he was. We had him, and will be with him again. May he truly rest in peace. Always lovingly remembered ever by Lee, Jamie, Wayne, Robert, Bonnie, Rod, Allen, Lori, Sherry, Linda, Jerry, Marcey, Danny, Dad and Mom, and all his many friends and family. 32-P-19

RIEL - In loving memory of a dear son, Jackie, who left us suddenly on March 20, 1970. It only takes a little space To write how much we miss you. But it will take the rest of our lives To forget the day we lost you. Sadly missed by Mom, Dad, brothers and their families. 32-P-19

HAYWOOD - In loving memory of our dear parents who passed away - Mother, March 17, 1984; Daddy, May 23, 1981. We often sit and think of you. When we are alone, So many times we've needed you. So many times we've cried. If love could have saved you both, You never would have died. To hear your voice and see your smiles, To sit with you and talk awhile, To be together in the same old way, Would be our greatest wish today. Lord, if there are roses in Heaven, Please pick a bunch with love, And place them in our parents' arms. And tell them we still care. Sadly missed and always loved, all the family. 32-P-19

HENDERSON - In loving memory of my mother, Edna May, who passed away April, 1939, and my father, John Ross, who passed away March 18, 1970. God gave us memories so we could have roses in winter. Always remembered by Denise and family. 32-P-19
